Drinking Water Here and throughout State to Be Tested Under New Federal Safeguards

Drinking water, as ordinary and assumed as air to breathe, will come under the watchdog eye of the Federal Safe Drinking Water Act as of July 1. It sets minimum drinking water regulations for all systems that serve at least 25 people, or have connections to 15 homes and that, obviously, means Princeton and its environs.

A seminar on the implications of the act will be held this Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Woodrow Wilson School on the University campus (Washington and Prospect), and the public is invited. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association and the League of Women Voters of New Jersey are the sponsors.

Who sets standards and conducts tests? Who is responsible if treatment must be upgraded? How will all this affect the water supply for Princeton and its neighbors? These are the questions that will be posed–and addressed, if not completely answered–by State and Federal officials.

For most people who fill an ice-cube tray or run water from the tap into a coffeepot, the most evident ingredient in water is chlorine. And most people, if they give it any thought at all, simply wrinkle their noses at the sharp chlorine and figure that while it may smell bad, it means the water has been purified and is safe.

However, new pollutants have begun to degrade drinking water in recent years. And in New Jersey, where the incidence of cancer is reportedly higher than in any other state, environmental officials will go to work, starting off with tests on groundwater supplies in all the state's 21 counties, and checking for 46 different contaminants. Surface-water testing will begin if the legislature provides sufficient money in the coming fiscal year.

The new act will set standards for fecal coliform count, biological oxygen demand and the presence of heavy metals. It will set limits on things that are beginning to be thought of as hazardous, such as polyvinyl chlorides.

Primary enforcement will be up to state and local governments, but so far, according to Princeton's health officer, David Blake, there are no firm instructions telling municipalities just what to do.

Water companies themselves, and for Princeton this is the Elizabethtown Water Company, must do the tests, although there will be state inspectors. Elizabethtown is regarded by such experts as Adele Mitchell, head of the Watersheds Association, as already having the sophisticated testing capabilities to do the job. However, the equipment is expensive and Ms. Mitchell wonders whether equipment--and lab capability – are within the means not

Alabama School Official named Superintendent; Public Reception Planned for Thursday Evening

Dr. Paul D. Houston, assistant superintendent for program and staff development of the Birmingham, Alabama, public schools, will be Princeton's new Superintendent of Schools starting July 1.

He will visit Princeton several times between now and then, according to school board president Dietrich Meyerhofer. The community is invited to meet Dr. Houston at a reception this Thursday evening (see box, this page.)

Dr. Houston was appointed for a term of two years and eleven months, and will receive a salary of $42,000 a year. Before last Thursday's 8-0 vote naming him superintendent -- board member Winthrop Pike was absent -- the board voted, also by 8-0, to give Dr. Houston a probationary period of no less than three years. On expiration of that period, he will receive tenure.

Dr. Houston's predecessor, Philip E. McPherson, was granted tenure after two years. The board took its action, Dr. Meyerhofer said, on the advice of its counsel, Thomas Cook.

At the start of Thursday's special board meeting, Dr. Meyerhofer announced that the board will not allow discussion about the qualifications of any other candidate for the superintendent's job. Several supporters of Acting Superintendent Edith Francis were in the audience, but they did not challenge Dr. Meyerhofer's announcement.

As always, Mrs. Francis sat with the board during the meeting. Dr. Meyerhofer thanked her on behalf of the board for her services as Acting Superintendent in the months since Dr. McPherson resigned last summer, and expressed confidence in her support until Dr. Houston takes over.

A Commitment to Excellence. "I look forward to becoming a part of the Princeton community," Dr. Houston wrote in a letter to Dr. Meyerhofer.

"In visiting the schools and community, the one thing that stands out above all others is the obvious commitment to excellence at all levels, mixed with a real compassion for all students, regardless of ability or background. It is that mixture, that I find to be so rare in public education, which makes Princeton such an appealing place to live and work."

The new superiotendent grew up in rural West Virginia, the son of a Methodist minister, graduating from Milton (W. Va.) high school, where he was president of the Latin Club and vice-president of the senior class.

He was graduated from Ohio State in 1966 with an English major, and received his master's degree in elementary education from the University of North Carolina in 1968. He earned his doctorate in education administration from Harvard in 1973.

Varied Background. His first teaching job was in an elementary school in a lower-middle-class area of Durham, N.C., where he developed a teamed, non-graded class for underachieving students and taught a class for gifted children.

Moving to Chapel Hill, he did team-teaching in a newly-integrated school which was located in a poor black section of town and had a student body composed of poor black children and upper-middle-class university children. At this school, he developed a language arts class for non-reading sixth-graders, and a motivational program for children who were not achieving.

Two-thirds of the teaching staff was new to teaching, in a Chapel Hill elementary school he served as principal. The school itself was newly segregated.

In 1971-72, Dr. Houston was a teaching fellow at Harvard, and in 1972, he became principal of Wilson Elementary School in Summit, New Jersey.

"Summit is a wealthy suburb of New York City under the influence of Wall Street commuters," Dr. Houston comments. "My task was to create a more exciting learning environment for children."

He guided the system toward team-teaching, multi-age classes, and more individualization.

"A particular emphasis was placed on development of character," he says, "higher-order thinking skills, and increased independence."

In System of 78 Schools. Summers, he served as assistant to the superintendent and in 1974 moved to Birmingham to become director of Birmingham's 78 elementary schools. After three months, he was made assistant superintendent for program and staff development, the position he now holds.

In this job, he has played a major role in gaining accreditation for the elementary schools, building a library program from scratch, a kindergarten program, raising reading achievement in the first grade to the national average, developing alternative schools, providing a mini-grant for teachers, working out staff development opportunities and developing a teacher center.

Birmingham has over 50,000 students. The system is about 70 percent black, 30 percent white, and as Dr. Houston puts it, "is undergoing the daily traumas one would associate with an urban system, including a recent major desegregation order."

As extra-curricular activity, Dr. Houston is superintendent of the Sunday School in the First United Methodist Church, and is on the church's board of trustees and commission on education. He is a board member for an after-school program for retarded children, and the campus ministry to the University of Alabama at Birmingham.

During his Harvard years,

Drinking Water

only of water companies but of the state itself.

Curiosity about drinking water led one Princeton resident, chemist John Werth of 204 Bertrand Drive, to take a sample of water from his home tap to his laboratory in Pennsylvania and run tests on it. At last Wednesday's meeting of Princeton's Health Commission, Mr. Blake reported that Dr. Werth had found mercury in his Princeton water. However, Mr. Blake's assistant, Len Williams, took the sample to the state and technicians there found no mercury problem at all.

Problem Not Serious. Dr. Werth points out that the state runs its tests for 20 minutes at 90 degrees Centigrade, whereas Federal standards call for 12 hours at the same temperature. So the state made the test under the higher standard and still found no problem with mercury.

At the moment, Mr. Williams and Dr. Werth are working with the state on continuing tests.

"We should assume there is nothing wrong with the water, and there is no reason for concern," Dr. Werth says, "It is a difficult test to run and it would be premature to draw any conclusions. We should know more in the next two weeks."

Dr. Werth said that his son, a chemical engineering student at Princeton University, also plans to run tests in University labs.

Sources Explained. Where do pollutanta come from? How can they affect Princeton, a non-industrial community?

Adele Mitchell points to what professionals call "non-point sources"--which means places water picks things up from as it flows along. An old dump, for example, rained on over the years, can make quite a contribution to underwater aquifers or to streams. Its "leachate" can be really toxic.

Run-off from shopping center malls and street can carry the lead in gasoline, asbestos from brake linings, rubber from tires, oil from spills.

For the past year or so, regions throughout the country have been working under a pair of aections in the 1972 Federal Clean Water Act. Section 201 deals with building municipal sewage treatment facilities. Section 208 is concerned with planning. Ma. Mitchell feels strongly, by the way, that requirementa under the safe water act should be put under Seciton 208, but so far, Washington doesn't agree.

The idea behind 208 planning is to give the country fishable, swimmable waters by 1983. This isn't going to happen. Ms. Mitchell observes, but at least regions must develop ways to improve water quality to meet future needs.

Responsibility Assigned. In New Jersey, Governor Brendan Byrne assigned policy for this part of the state to the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Council. The Mercer County Planning Board is the liaison between the DVRPC and towns in Mercer County.

"208" planning at the moment is concerned with "now:" What's contributing the pollution of the water? How are we controlling pollution? Are our methods effective? What are restrictions on pesticides? And so on.

Under the act, citizens must have a part in developing policies, working out population projections, examining land uae. But Municipal officials and the few citizens who seem to be interested have become more and more exasperated with the thick, grey mist that seems to cloud the DVRPC and all its works.

This Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall, Princeton's Planning Board and members of Borough Council and Township Committee will meet with representatives of the DVRPC to try and clear away the mists.

"A Paper Tiger?" The public is invited, --although not to participate -- and so have been representatives of the governor, the Department of Community Affairs, the Department of Transportation, the Mercer County Freeholders.

"Is the DVRPC a paper tiger?" is the question Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley asked this week.

It's not a frivolous question. Population projections made by DVRPC staff will be the basis for any future Federal money, once the projections have been approved by the state.

For Princeton, the year 2000 projections are 12,735 for the Borough -- with an eight percent-plus margin giving 13,750 – and for the Township, 20,002 with the same eight percent margin giving 21,602 for a Princeton maximum total of 35,352.

So far, Princeton's governing bodies have not objected particularly to these, but they feel they did not participate enough in helping the DVRPC work out the projections, and since real, hard Federal dollars apparently are tied to them, there is anxious desire to know more.

By the end of the year, this 208 planning is supposed to be complete, incorporating a review of current water problems, possible alternate land uses, discussion of controls and recommended ways to reach – or maintain – high water quality.

The question of water quality in Princetoo, therefore, has a depth and flow ranging from the purity of what we drink, to how many people the water supply can provide for a quarter of a century from now.

HOME IS RANSACKED

On Dempsey Avenue. Drawers in a bedroom and dining room of the home of Mrs. Robbie Zierler, 78 Dempsey Avenue, were ransacked last week.

Mrs. Zierler told police that when she returned home around midnight, she discovered the front door locked from the inside with a chain lock. Police investigation revealed that the intruder had broken a kitchen window and cut a screen to gain entry.

Although there was evidence of ransacking, police report that nothing appears to be missing. Pfl. John Clausen investigated.

Office Entry Fails. Borough police report that an attempt last week to enter a second-floor office in the 20 Nassau Street building failed.

Between 8:30 and 9:50 in the evening while others were still inside the building, someone, police said, removed the mail slot from an office door to reach in and unlock the door. "Apparently the opening was not large enough for him to get his arm through," said Chief Michael Carnevale.

Moore Named to School Board to Replace Getis

Judith Getis told the school board formally at Tuesday night's meeting that she is resigning from the board about June 1. Dr. Arthur Getis, her husband, has accepted the position of head of the geography department at the University of Illinois' Champain-Urbana campus, she said.

It has been learned that Joseph P. Moore will be named by the board to succeed her, but his name was not mentioned Tuesday night.

Instead, board president Dietrich Meyerhofer revealed that an executive session of the board, convened last Thursday night but adjourned until Sunday night, had discussed procedures for naming a successor. There is apparently no provision in the voluminous board policy manual for choosing a successor under these circumstances.

The board decided there should be public discussion of procedures, Dr. Meyerhofer said, and this will be on the agenda for an April 12 public meeting in the Valley Road building.

Rosalind Frisch, who had just been sworn in as a new member, questioned the legality of Sunday night's meeting under the sunshine law. Board counsel Thomas Cook said that Superior Court Judge George Y. Shoch, in a decision involving East Windsor, ruled that board members come under the "personnel" classification, and therefore cane be discussed in private.

At the start of the meeting, the board had adjourned for 10 minutes to arrange its votes for a president. Mr. Cook said that, too, was legal under sunshine.

Dr. Meyerhofer was nominated for re-election by Hannah Fox, seconded by Mrs. Getis. After Robin Wallack nominated Winthrop Pike and Gail Firestone seconded, Mr. Pike withdrew. However, in the secret ballot he received one vote. Dr. Meyerhofer won with seven votes and there was one abstention.

Joan Doig, nominated vice-president by mrs. getis, received seven votes, to two for Mrs. Wallack, who was nominated by Mrs. Frisch.

Of her resignation, Mrs. Getis said she warned the board in a March 18 memo that it was "quite likely" she would be moving. But it was not until March 21 – the day before school elections – that her family made its decision, she said.

It would not have been possible to resign in time for someone to run for her seat, she explained, because the filing deadline had already passed by the time the family decided on the move.

"It is one of the hardest decisions I've ever had to make," she told board and audience.

Teachers will have to be dropped, because of the tight budget, and acting Superintendent Edith Francis explained the complex procedures for keeping staff informed. Tenure laws are confusing, she said warning that dismissals might affect tenured staff.

You're losing some of your best teachers, but seniority protects teachers who have no right to be there," protested Alan Poritz, from the audience. "You spend a lot of extra-curricular money on sports – why not eliminate some of them for a few years? The way things are being handled shows a lack of regard for a quality education."

Although tentative lists of threatened teachers have been given only to principals, news has leaked out, especially at the high school. PTO President Jane Evans said she had received "lots of phone calls" from parents whose children brought home news of various teachers.

PHS Principal George Petrillo presented his '77-78 curriculum, with new courses in career math, speech, debate, styles of writing, accelerated biology and chemistry 1 and second year U.S. history for non-English-speaking students.

When board member Gail Firetsone questioned courses in film and literature of the 1920s, and dropping grammar review, Mr. Petrillo said the grammar course wasn't popular and would be incorporated into regular English.

William Bux, of the Business Education department, asked why there was no computer course in the COBOL language in his department. There is, instead, a course in FORTRAN in the math department.

Mr. Petrillo told him local firms say they would prefer to train students themselves.

A PARKING "UTILITY"?

Council to Consider. This Wednesday at 5 in Borough Hall, Council's new Parking Committee will hold its first meeting, and lay the groundwork for decisions -- by September 1 -- on such matters as a possible Parking Utility for Princeton and contributions by the business community in lieu of meeting parking requirements.

"By September, we hope to have a plan and ways to work it out," Mayor Robert W. Cawley told his Tuesday press conference.

He added that a Parking Authority is not regarded with favor by most towns because the municipality must surrender control to such an organization. A "utility"; is more useful, he said.

The new committee will have a sub-committee, under Council member Nelson van den Blink, to consider the organization of a utility or authority, its membership, what kind of staff it would have. A second sub-committee under Council member Richard Woodbridge will explore financing.

"The principle object of any organization," Mayor Cawley said, "is to work out a legal way to relieve people of the responsibility for providing parking on their own land. But it's impossible to do this without a plan."

Other members of the committee are assistant Borough engineer Martin Miller, attorney Gordon Griffin, Administrator Robert F. Mooney, William H. Walker of the Planning Board and John Holf III, Ralph Hulit Jr., Jack Yoeman, Leonard LaPlaca and Albert Toto Jr., of the business community, and Michael Rockland representing citizens.

The Necklace with a Legend

While the Sand Dollar is one of the most widely known and popular of all shells, few people are aware of its lovely legend.

Legend has it that these strange shells tell the story of Christ's suffering and His glory. The five holes represent the five wounds of Christ. On the front, the Easter Lily has a five-pointed star at its center, representing the Star of Bethlehem. On the back, the outline of the Christmas Poinsettia reminds us of His birthday. When the shell is broken open, five Doves of Peace and Good Will appear.

An enduring legend, an appropriate Easter gift. In silver, $25.

Coalition of Princeton will pass the hat among its dozen members and go ahead with its appeal to Borough Council.

The Coalition announced last week that it would ask Council to reverse the Planning Board's decision granting a setback variance and site plan approval to Princeton University for construction of the new biochemical lab on William Street. The Coalition protests because construction of the lab means the University will have to remove six houses.

Under the law, it is the responsibility of the party making an appeal to get transcripts of the meeting in question from the Planning Board and give these copies to Mayor and Council for study. After the transcripts have been received – deadline is April 22 – a date will be set for a hearing.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley observed at his Tuesday press conference that the law wasn't written with appeals by small groups or individuals in mind, and he pointed out that it can cost so much to transcribe tapes that a small group might change its mind and decide not to appeal.

Robert Hosford of the Housing Coalition says, however, that the group plans to go ahead.

RENTS UNDER STUDY

Council Has Special Meeting. If Borough Council members complete their home-work in time -- and Mayor Robert W. Cawley confessed on Tuesday that he still had a lot to do -- they can sit down next Wednesday, April 6, at 8 p.m. for a special session on the rent levelling ordinance that expires August 1.

Council members have assigned themselves detail work such as the number of housing units removed from the market because of the ordinance, the kinds of ordinances in effect in other towns, and the views of landlords and tenants on the Borough's present ordinance.

MEETINGS OVER COFFEE

On Housing Program. The Planning Board is so determined to complete work on its housing program that it has scheduled dinner-hour meetings and told members and staff to bring sandwiches and coffee.

The next will be Monday in the downstairs lounge of Borough Hall from 5:30 to 7 p.m. After these two, the board will return to a more conventional hour and will hold housing meetings from 8 to 10:30 p.m. on Monday, April 11 and Tuesdays, April 19 and 26.

The public is invited to listen in, – and to bring sandwiches and coffee – but participation is limited to board members and staff.

FOUR BIKES STOLEN

Two From Hodge Road Garage. Two bicycles were stolen from an unlocked Hodge Road garage during the weekend and two more from the Princeton University campus on Saturday.

Taken from the garage, police said, were a green, 10-speed model valued at $125, and an orange, 10-speed valued at $150. Both bikes had been locked.

Two Trenton juveniles, 13 and 14, have been charged with the bike thefts on campus. They were apprehended by two university proctors who turned them over to Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watson for processing.

A Green Street resident reported the theft Friday of his car battery valued at $45 while his car was parked near his home. On the same day, Frank Cavanaugh of Edison listed the theft of the battery from his car while it was parked between 8:30 and 11 p.m. at the Community Park School lot.

Mrs. Arnold Lazarus, 56 Herrontown Circle, reported Friday morning the theft of a 40-foot piece of plastic tubing from her rear yard during the night. The tubing, used for underground drains, was valued at $40 to $50. A second piece of tubing, 32-feet long, was left behind.

Borough police also list the theft of a $45 athletic jacket from an unlocked locker at Princeton High School while the owner was attending baseball practice.

WOMAN IS CHARGED

With Drug Ruse. A 20-year old Mercerville resident, Theresa M. Dorso, has been charged by Township police with possession of stolen property and forging a prescription.

Later released pending her appearance in Township court, Ms. Dorso was apprehended Saturday when she returned to the Thrift Drug Store in the Princeton Shopping Center to pickup a prescription for Desoxyn, described by police as an amphetamine or "speed." According to police, the prescription blank had been stolen from a doctor's office in Trenton and Ms. Dorso had allegedly forged the prescription. Ptl. Harry Morton investigated.

Charged with Trespassing. Francis E. Oswald, 63, of Trenton, has been charged with trespassing by police and is scheduled to appear in Court April 7.

He was brought to headquarters by university proctor Harry Masterson, who told police that he had observed the suspect trespassing in Room 113 of 1922 Hall at 1:10 Saturday morning.

Wiley Critz, 27, of Pennington has been charged with the Saturday evening larceny of a wallet in Firestone Library on the university campus.

Police said that although the wallet was not recovered in Critz's possession, items that came from the wallet were. There was no cash in the wallet, police said.

Critz was turned over to police by proctor Douglas Watson. He is scheduled to appear in court next Wednesday, April 6.

Out-of-State License Plates Disappear And Police Say 'Collector' Is at Work

Tuesday morning a somewhat puzzled woman told the desk officer at Borough police headquarters that the Massachusetts license plate from her car had been stolen.

Tuesday afternoon, a university student reported the theft of his Louisiana plate from his car while it was parked at the Ivy Club on Prospect Avenue. They were the latest in a growing list of out-of-state car owners who have had their license plates stolen. In all but one incident, only ooe plate was taken.

"Out of state license plates have become a collector's item this past week," commented Chief Michael Carnevale. He said that police believe that someone is in the process of attempting to collect one from each state.

Police have provided victims, who have asked, with letters they can carry indicating that the theft has occurred. All stolen plate numbers have been sent out over a police teletype, Chief Carnevale said.

Police received their first stolen plate report on Thursday when a Bank Street resident told them that his Alberta, Canada, license had been removed from his car while it was parked on Greenholm.

Friday brought another – a Stanworth area resident reported the theft of a Virginia plate. On Saturday, the following licenses were reported stolen, mostly by Princeton University students who had parked their cars at eating clubs on Prospect Avenue: New York, Maine, Florida, North Carolina, Maryland, Tennessee, Michigan and from the University Store lot – a Manitoba, Canada, plate.

Sunday's lone report was a Connecticut plate taken from a car parked at the Terrace Club, but on Monday there were four more: Georgia, Washington, Minnesota and Illinois. Two were from clubs, two from cars parked in the Stanworth area.

SUIT IS BROUGHT

Over Sale of House. A suit has been brought against the former owners of a $100,000 house in Hopewell Township and the real estate firm that negotiated the sale by a couple who bought the property and are charging that the condition of the house is not as it was represented to be.

Robert L. Waligunda and his wife, Kathleen, new owners of a home on the Woodsville-Harbourton Road, have charged Thomas B. Young III and his wife, Charlotte, from whom they bought the property, and Stewardson-Dougherty Real Estate Associates, Inc. and its sales agent, Valerie Cunningham, with deceit and fraud. Mr. Waligunda is head of Sky Promotions of 20 Nassau Street. The couple claims that during negotiations to purchase the property, the Youngs and the real estate firm made false representations by stating there were no problems with the hot water heater, roof, plumbing or electrical system.

The suit contends that the hot water heater was inoperable, the roof leaked, the rain gutters needed repair, the chimney for the oil burner was cracked in the attic emitting oil fumes, and there was only a 60 amp electrical box and not a 150 amp box, as they were allegedly told. They further charge that the plumbing system leaks to a substantial extent, which results in insufficient water pressure, but that they were led to believe there was no problem with the system except that it was waterlocked.

Moreover, the Waligundas say that although they were told that the water from the creek was pure, they find it unfit for human use. Besides charging that the premises were rat-infested, they also contend the former owners failed to keep a promise to repair the septic system before the purchase was consumated. They are asking compensatory and punitive damages, interest and the cost of the suit.

Robert E. Dougherty, president of the real estate firm, told TOWN TOPICS, "We feel the allegations are wholly untrue and will welcome the opportunity to prove so in any trial that may develop."

COURSES LISTED

In Family Living. The Family Service Agency has announced its spring Creative Family Living series. The program offers learning and growth experiences for individuals and families who would like to enrich their relationships. Groups and workshops will be offered in Princeton and Hightstown.

The Princeton area programs include Working Together, an on-going support group in which women can find encouragement, warmth, new points of view, common experiences and companionship; Creative Anger, in which members will explore a variety of ways of expressing and releasing anger; and Our Sexual Selves, in which sexual attitudes, values, intimacy and loving relationships will be explored in group discussions, films and exercises.

Three courses in assertive training will be offered, for community volunteers, for professional women and an advanced course in which the group will explore being assertive in "significant social relationships." A course called "The Blended Family" will examine the parenting relationships that are a part of remarriage.

The courses, which meet for two hours for 6-8 weeks on different weekday evenings, will be taught by Family Service Family Life Educators Linda Meisel, Carol Moran and Anne Hogue, all of whom have their master's in social work degree, and by Kay Boals, Ph.D., Rutgers Social Work Intern.

For further information and registration call the Agency Monday through Friday from 9-5 p.m. and Tuesday, 6-8.

BUS TRIP PLANNED

For Seniors. The Recreation Department will sponsor a trip for senior citizens to Winterthur Museum in Delaware Tuesday, April 19. Following the tour of the museum the bus will stop at the Mushroom Museum on the return trip. The cost is $5, plus an optional 50 cents for the stop at the Mushroom Museum.

All interested Princeton residents 60 years and older are invited. They should stop in at the Recreation office in the Valley Road school building on Wednesday, April 6, between 10 and 12, or, if not able to register in person, should call 921-9480.

"ROOTS" IS TOPIC

Of Youth Center Discussion. The Princeton Youth Center in conjunction with "Pamoja," a group of black Princeton University students working for better town-gown relations, is sponsoring a workshop on the book "Roots."

The first of three sessions took place last Monday, and two additional sessions are scheduled for April 11 and 25 at 8 p.m. at the Youth Center, 102 Witherspoon Street. If interested, call Len Brown at 924-0996, or Pam Crowley, 452-0983.

READY TO HUNT EGGS: Posing with the Easter Bunny in anticipation of Saturday's Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the Lions Club are Bruce Perone, chairman, with his children, Brian, 3, and Brooke, 2. The hunt will be held beginning at 10:30 this Saturday on the field off Broadmead. All children up to age 12 are invited.

BACK TO THE BOARD

For 19 Vandeventer. The house on the corner of Vandeventer and Park will be back on the Planning Board agenda next Tuesday, as the board takes action on the request of its owner, Claudette Rubin, for subdivision and variances.

The public hearing has been closed, and the board will not reopen it. However, board members do want the legal advice of William von Oehsen, attorney for the Borough Zoning Board. Paired subdivision and zoning requests are new to the Planning Board under the new land use law, and the board has asked for Mr. von Oehsen's advice.

In another matter, Benedict Yedlin will appear before the board on a technicality involving his seven-lot subdivision on the east side of Herrontown Road.

Trinity Church plans to ask the board in May for conditional authorization to use its 22 Stockton building for church offices. The church has received conditional use and bulk variances for its planned addition to Pierce Hall. The church had asked for a 50-foot setback variance and relief from parking requirements and the need to provide a designated amount of space between principal buildings.

Amateur Astronomers Planning to Build Observatory in Park Near Titusville

This time next year, weather permitting, evening visitors to Washington Crossing State Park near Titusville will be able to study the moon, the planet Jupiter and the constellatioo Orion the Hunter.

On April 2 the Amateur Astronomers Association of Princeton (AAAP) -- an organization of some 65 members -- will conduct ground-breaking ceremonies for an astronomical observatory at the park's Nature Center. The observatory, which has been two years in the planning, has the backing of the State Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). The New Jersey State Museum will co-sponsor the project.

The DEP leased the site to the association, and the association and the museum will conduct at least 16 free sessions a year when the public may view double stars, star clusters and the planets of the solar system through the observatory's telescopes. According to Richard D. Peery, assistant supervisor of the State Museum Planetarium and director of AAAP, "For this highly-urbanized area, the park provides clear skies – a must for astronomical activities – relatively free of light pollution."

AAAP members will build the observatory themselves. The 14 by 28 foot cinder block building with six-foot high walls will be topped by a four-foot high sloping wooden roof that opens for observing. It will house two telescopes.

One Telescope 100 Years Old. One, a six-inch, century-old refracting (lens) telescope of superior optical quality, has been restored by John A. Church of Princeton Junction. Karl Koehler of Bordentown donated the other, a ten-inch reflecting telescope, which he built himself.

"The telescopes complement each other," Mr. Peery said. "The refractor is an excellent instrument for viewing the moon and the planets, and the reflector is better for locating star clusters, gas clouds and galaxies."

According to William Phillips of Princeton, chairman of the AAAP Observatory Committee, the AAAP members, who are now conducting a fund drive, will have to complete most of the construction this spring and summer.

"But we anticipate being in business within a year," Mr. Phillips said. He can be contacted about the project at P.O. Box 2017, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

Inchworm Feeding May Be Less. Winter's abnormally cold temperatures may reduce inchworm leaf feeding this spring according to John D. Kegg, New Jersey Department of Agriculture entomologist.

Kegg bases his prediction on moth trapping surveys conducted in forested communities located in the townships of Beachwood, Brick, Dover, Lakewood, and Manchester in Ocean County. The survey showed an 88 percent reduction in adult female moth populations of the inchworm.

...BUT WILL IT FLY? With Tal Streeter as designer-fabricator, it darned well better. That's Mr. Streeter, back to camera, kite in hand. This Friday at 8 p.m. in Corwin Hall (the modern red brick building behind the fountain on the University campus, Washington Road and Prospect), Mr. Streeter will show slides and talk about his kiting adventures in Japan and elsewhere. The next morning—Saturday at 10—he will hold a kite-making workshop in Green Hall Annex, corner Washington Road and Nassau (use the Nassau Street door). You're invited to both. It's all part of—but you've already guessed!—the Arts Council's kite-flying community spring party on Saturday, May 7.

Griggstown Resident Whose Home Once Burned Writes Consumer's Guide to Fire Insurance

Stanley Leinwoll of 22 Sterling Road, Griggstown, has written a consumer's guide to home fire insurance which, if read by every homeowner and apartment dweller, could save hindsight laments and perhaps thousands of dollars if fire does occur.

Published this week by Charles Scribner's Sons, "So You Think You're Covered?" and is defined as essential reading for "the millions of underinsured, underprotected, underinformed homeowners who may be just a lighted cigarette, a defective appliance, or an act of God away from a nightmare." Mr. Leinwoll knows whereof he writes; he moved to Griggstown after fire destroyed a previous home.

Fire breaks out in more than 2,000 American homes every day and causes more than $850 million of damage each year. Mr. Leinwoll maintains that few people have a clear idea of what they are covered for until after they have been through a fire or theft, or have been sued, and have discovered how inadequate their insurance is. Moreover, few people ever read their insurance policy, which is written in language so complicated that reading doesn't always make the policy clearer.

This book tells what one needs to know about insuring a home against fire and how to deal with the many problems that occur after a fire takes place: the endless waiting; problems with contractors, agents, money; the amount of work involved; the numerous complications that arise through ignorance or lack of forethought. In the first chapter, "A Homeowner's Nightmare," the author chronologues the frustrations, red tape and dishonesty that confronted one family in its nine-month effort to have its home restored to liveable condition after a relatively minor fire.

Mr. Leinwoll then explains each clause in the basic insurance policy and describes the five or six kinds of home coverage. Step-by-step he tells how to make sure of having adequate insurance, what to do in the event of a fire, whom to contact if the insurance company is not handling the case satisfactorily, and how to choose and deal with contractors. He tells what to do when you suspect that the adjuster and appraiser and their chosen contractor are in collusion for mutual profit at your expense, or when you discover that valuable property is being replaced with shoddy, less expensive items.

The reader learns that insurance adjusters are rated on how much they save their companies rather than how fairly they settle a claim and that if a property is mortgaged, the payment of any claim must be made to the mortgage company first. The cash value of personal belongings is the amount it would cost to replace an item today minus depreciation, and a five-year old suit, for instance, is considered nearly worthless. Mr. Leinwoll also describes in detail all that is not covered.

Commenting that, "It is difficult to understand why an industry whose principle function is to protect those it serves from financial ruin fails to take steps to correct many of the inequities that exist," he concludes by making a series of recommendations about how the insurance business could begin to answer the problems of their clients. Mr. Leinwoll has written nine books and hundreds of articles on many subjects, including a history of radio, a book on candlemaking, two cookbooks and a book on lasers and masers. He is director of engineering for Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty.

sometimes called, feeds on the leaves of oak, ash, maple, hickory, and beech trees during the month of May. Last year, it defoliated approximately 6,000 acres of forest.

The female moth, which emerges from the soil from late November to early January to deposit eggs, has apparently encountered difficulties because of the prolonged cold temperatures. Normally, the moths emerge during "thaw" periods which occur in December and January. This winter "thaws" were uncommon, or of too short a duration, for the moth to successfully complete egg laying and thus, populations are greatly reduced.

Inchworm caterpillars, which hatch in late April, will grow from 1-1½ inches long; they vary in color -- light yellow to black -- and have several light stripes running down the body.

OF WALKS AND BIKES

For Township Committee. Continuing to examine its capital budget, Township Committee will walk along proposed bike paths and sidewalks at the meeting next Wednesday, April 6, to see whether anything can be cut back.

Committee will also hold public hearing on the ordinance banning parking on North Harrison Street just off Valley, in light of the new traffic lights at that intersection.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Township Hall.

Thanks from Hannah Fox
To the Editor of Town Topics:

First: Thanks to all who helped re-elect me to the Princeton Regional School Board.

Second: May I commend Joe Moore and his supporters for the high level of his campaign. I believe the interest generated by our contest aroused a wider interest in our schools, and contributed much to the passage of the 1977-78 budget.

Third: During the next three years, as in the last six, I hope to represent all members of the borough community in maintaining and advancing the quality of our public schools.

Frisch Campaign Costs Low.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

In these days of rising costs, I think it would interest the voters of Princeton to see a breakdown of the cash required to run a highly-successful campaign (Rosalind Frisch received more votes than any other candidate running for election to the School Board).

If suspected high costs of campaigning deter would-be candidates for public office, the following information might allay some of their fears.

Contributions to the "Friends of Rosalind Frisch" totalled. $229.77. Tbe cost of advertising came to $156.95., printing and postage $44.82., leaving a balance of $28. which has been donated to the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation.

Of course the extremely low campaign costs were made possible because so many "Friends" volunteered countless hours of time and effort. As everyone knows, more money could always have been spent. Winning, I am sure, is the greatest repayment for all those who helped make success possible, and I am convinced that Rosalind will do everything in her power to justify our trust and confidence.

Let us hope that the School Board will take advantage of Rosalind's fiscal reponsibility when it comes to those times when budget decisions are necessary.

Kindergarten Registration Dates Set

Children who will be five years old on or before November 30 of this year, are eligible for public school kindergarten. They may be registered for kindergarten on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 19, 20 and 21 from 10 until 2 at each of Princeton's elementary schools: Johnson Park, Community Park, Riverside and Littlebrook.

Parents must take the child's birth certificate and medical records with them for registration. Under state law, pupils will not be admitted without the following immunizations:

- The combination diphtheria - whooping cough-tetanus shot (diphtheria toxoid, pertussis vaccine and tetanus toxoid combination (DPT) 4 doses.
- Oral polio (3 doses - trivalent)
- Measles vaccine - (live, given after one year of age)
- Rubella

If the measles vaccine has been given in combination with mumps vaccine, parents should have a report to that effect.

Vigil Against Death.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

At 9:30 each Sunday morning between now and Easter there will be a silent vigil on Stockton Street opposite Morven the Governor's residence.

The death penalty bill is awaiting Governor Byrne's veto or signature. "Death Watch New Jersey" as the vigil is called is sponsored by the New Jersey Council of Churches in opposition to the death penalty.

Many concerned citizens, alarmed over rising violence, believe that the threat of death will deter crime. There is little evidence that it does. Capital crimes are often impulsive and unplanned. Even the Supreme Court found the evidence on deterrence "inconclusive."

The death penalty must be seen as the most brutal kind of revenge. In the words of the Michigan Catholic Conference "It is clear that the root causes of crime lie within society itself and their effects will not be eliminated by an act of retribution." And there is special concern with what the death penalty does to the society that inflicts it. The United Presbyterian Church has declared "the use of the death penalty tends to brutalize the society that condones it." Our values of compassion and decency are cheapened.

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund lists 423 prisoners on Death Row in 23 states. The majority are poor and educationally deprived. Almost 50 percent of them come from minority groups.

Persons of wealth and education are favored by the realities of our legal system and rarely suffer severe penalties. This alone is sufficient reason for opposing capital punishment as immoral and unjust.

Are we less humane than the Canadians, British, West Germans, Italians and Dutch? In their countries, the death penalty has been abolished.

Our whole society should take on the burden of the criminal. We spend billions on criminal processes. A small fraction of this sum would suffice to psychologically condition both young and old so that murder and violence would be inconceivable either in fact or fancy.

"Charlie Brown" a Success.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Trustees of the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation wish to thank the many people who helped to make the benefit performance of "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" a great success. The show was presented by Princeton High School Drama 77.

We deeply appreciate the work of the students and the assistance of the High School staff. We are grateful to parents, friends, merchants and business organizations who have given their support so generously.

We have had the pleasure of delightful performances. At the same time we have been assisted in our efforts to help the Class of 1977 students who need aid to continue their education in college, junior college or vocational school. For this, we extend our thanks to all.

IT'S NEW To Us

A NEW TENNIS SHOP

Where All Are Served. Despite the tennis explosion during recent years, until now the Princeton area has not had a professional tennis shop. Sure, there are the indoor facilities and departments within larger stores, but these are often inaccessible, closed part of the year or simply not fully knowledgeable when it comes to technical matters.

Obviously there was a need for such a specialty store, because never have we visited a busier place than Edgar Levy's new Lawrenceville Tennis Shop. Although Mr. Levy quietly attributed the activity to the early Spring, listening to him advise customers, we couldn't help but credit his experience and reputation.

Having played tennis for 50 years, five years ago he finally made it his full-time job by becoming the pro at an indoor club and later at Greenacres. He now teaches in Pennsylvania.

While this experience is certainly valuable, nicest of all is his belief that a "tennis shop should be a service shop," and no where is this more evident than in his handling of rackets. He carries practically every available brand, certainly all the major ones, and there are demonstrators for many, which the customer can borrow and try.

The Proper Racket. Mr. Levy said, "I don't push the expensive rackets. All that is needed is a good quality racket, properly strung, balanced and with a good grip." He explained that the right racket varies with a person's game. For instance, a baseline player with good groundstrokes generally goes best with a racket slightly heavier in the head.

He also recommends wooden rackets for beginners because the ball goes off at a slower pace, allowing the player to get a feel for guiding it over the net. But, no matter what your choice, he has a scale, balancing equipment and the proper stringing to make it suit your requirements.

WHAT'S YOUR RACKET: Edgar Levy, here discussing rackets with Scott Solfen, opened a professional tennis shop in Lawrenceville this month.

By the way, most all his rackets are sold unstrung because Mr. Levy feels very few are properly done at the factory – the exceptions being Yonex and Prince.

He also will re-string an old racket or attach a new grip, although he says this is so simple that most players should learn to do it themselves. Grips are sold separately and he will teach you how.

When asked about shoes, which wear out far too fast, he assured us that the manufactures were working on the problem. While it is a difficult task to combine comfort, wearability and durability, Mr. Levy feels that Puma's new sneaker with a radial sole does the best job. It is expensive, list about $30, but he says, "It's the best wearing, all-round sneaker."

We also saw Addidas, Bata, Pro-Keds, Pony and Tretorns in case you are already committed to a favorite.

Balls at Cost. In continuing Mr. Levy's belief in service, Lawrenceville Tennis Shop sells a can of balls at cost. There are balls by Slazenger, Wilson, Dunlop and Spalding's Australian one. They cost $2.05 to $2.19 with the exception of the Australian which is $2.75. This is the ball used by the WCT, and Mr. Levy reports it to be a "little heavier and softer, but a very good ball."

There is also a full line of tennis clothing for men and women. Although we did see a lot of color Mr. Levy said, "The fashions are not as jazzy as a few years ago. I feel tennis has come out of its growing pains, and things are toned down."

We saw dresses, co-ordinated skirts and tops, sweaters and warm-up suits by Top Seed, Loomtogs, Haymaker and Spalding. Top Seed's white collection trimmed with multi-colored bands (orange, hot pink, blue and green) is the best example of how these fashions can be co-ordinated. There are skirts, dresses, tops--both solid colors and trimmed, a sweater and warm-up suits that can be combined anyway you wish, $14 to $46.

For the men most of the shorts are in cream or white (although we did notice yellow and blue ones by Izod) which can be teamed with a wide choice of striped shirts or solid Lacoste ones. All-cotton Spring Rugby ones by Challe will also be here shortly.

Spring is perfect warm-up suit weather, and Mr. Levy carries them priced from about $25. However, most popular is the Addidas one. It is extremely comfortable, warm and fully lined, about $60 in navy, light blue and two greens.

Many extras are here too such as tennis bags, presses and a ball hopper, all of which are well priced. Mr. Levy stressed to us that a "pro shop doesn't mean top dollar. I want people to feel they are getting good advice and quality merchandise at a fair price."

Located at 2661 Main Street in Lawrenceville, across from the school, Lawrenceville Tennis Shop is open Tuesday and Thursday from 12 until 8, Wednesday and Friday from 10 until 5:30, Saturday from 10 until 4 and Sunday from 1 until 4.

EASTER IS SPECIAL

At Strawberry Patch. Children love to celebrate each holiday. Yet finding nice decorations for many of them can be quite a chore. This Easter, however, Pennington's Strawberry Patch has outdone itself with unusual eggs, bunnies and baskets -- many of which are hand crafted.

The store itself looks like an Easter package with its oink facade and window display of tulips and egg tree. This tree, by the way, is worthwhile looking at if you have never made one for your own home.

All you need is a budding branch, secured in a bowl with some floral clay, which you then decorate with blown eggs that you can make yourself or collect over the years. To get you started Strawberry Patch has some decoupage ones with pictures of birds and flowers as well as some covered with tiny calico patches trimmed with gold cord, $1 and $2.

These patchwork eggs also come in a larger size filled with jelly beans and chocolate eggs, and they make a lovely small gift, $3. There are eggs for standing on a table too, such as a group of ceramic ones decorated with small flowers and rabbits. The work is quite detailed and they couldn't be more charming. $3 each.

Rabbits Galore. Rabbits are here in all sizes, starting with a small fluffy one to hang on your egg tree up to a large white ceramic one, who would undoubtedly love to live permanently among your plants, $1 to $8.

Our favorite bunny however is an embroidered face on the bib of a child's apron. It is particularly cute with rabbit ears for straps and a pink and white gingham skirt. Naturally, it is hand made and you'll probably never see another elsewhere, $10.

We also liked a brown ceramic rabbit sitting in a basket that on a fast look fooled us into thinking he was a chocolate molded one, $4.50. Then for the children, there are soft brown bean bag bunnies that have also been tucked into Strawberry patch's filled baskets.

These baskets have been trimmed with ribbon and flowers, but contain very little candy as owner Julie Schreiber has found that her customers don't want much. However, they can be opened so you can add your own choices, $3.50 to $13. She also has lots of empty baskts if you want to do the whole job yourself, from 75 cents.

Hand-crafted Gifts. Since Mrs. Schreiber bought Strawberry Patch more than a year ago, she has looked hard for unusual hand-crafted gifts and has found a great variety, mostly made by Mercer County residents including herself.

The choice includes matted drawings of young girls by a 15-year old, painted laundry bags which also make great sleeping bag totes or toybags, appliqued pillows from Vermont, and quilted potholders in a mixture of calico prints, $2.50 to $12.

She is particularly proud of some new porcelains done by a girl who used to paint for Boehm. Her work is finely detailed, and the figures all have life to them. The choices currently include a white bunny, a wood duck in flight and an otter on a river bank, $12 to $40.

We were also most admiring of Mrs. Schreiber's work, especially her painted denim skirt. The colorful floral motif up one side was adapted from a Mexican wedding dress, and for $40 there is even a matching denim shoulder bag.

Although Strawberry Patch likes to emphasize the handcrafted gifts, there are several commercial lines too. A favorite of ours were the old-fashioned round lunch box tins in white or cream, decorated with strawberries, flowers, fruit or rabbits. They are great for dozens of uses, but especially nice as a baby gift, $5.50 and $6.50.

We also liked the lap-desks, which are actually patterned pillows topped with white formica--perfect for use in cars, bed or a chair before the TV, $9 each.

Then if you need a Spring house present, Mrs. Schreiber has new plastic glasses with a design of green frogs on lily pads among a clump of blue flowers, six for $8.50 and there are coffee mugs and placemats to match.

Located at 21 West Delaware Avenue in Pennington, Strawberry Patch is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 until 5.

CONSOLIDATION IS TOPIC

Of Chamber's Panel Discussion. "Yes or No - Consolidation" is the issue to be discussed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting next Wednesday. Moderating a panel of Borough and Township residents will be Arthur Morgan, Vice-President and Trust Officer of Princeton Bank & Trust Company.

Speaking in favor of the Borough and Township merger will be Jay Bleiman, former Township Mayor and lecturer in Public and International Affairs at Woodrow Wilson School; and Stanley Smoyer, retired legal counsel for Johnson & Johnson. Presenting opposing points of view will be Wood Tate, President, Development Management, Inc., and Jack Yeoman, Treasurer, Palmer Square, Inc.

The meeting, open to the public, will be held at the Public Library to mark National Library Month. Librarian Robert Staples will give a talk on the library's facilities and conduct a tour at the close of the meeting. Reservations at $5 a person may be made by calling the Chamber office, 921-7676.

CONTRACT TO ATLAS

Estimated at $134 Million. Atlas Corporation of New York City which will open offices next month at 353 Nassau Street, has announced that it has signed a contract to deliver approximately 2.5 million pounds of uranium concentrate over a three-year period to an unidentified U.S. utility.

Edward R. Farley, Jr. of Princeton, Atlas chairman and president, said that the agreement calls for Atlas to deliver 500,000 pounds of uranium concentrate to the utility in 1980 and one million pounds in each of the following two years. Atlas is a diversified natural resources, manufacturing and services company.

In publishing the story, the Wall Street Journal said, "Based on the most recent industry price of $53.65 a pound for 1980 uranium deliveries, the contract has an indicated value of at least $134.1 million. Nuclear Exchange Corp., considered the industry's authoritative source of uranium price information, hasn't published quotes for beyond July 1, 1980, but based on past experience, the 1981 and 1982 prices would be higher than the Nuclear Exchange $53.65 quote for 1980."

Blaicher to Retire as Palmer Square Head But Will Continue in Consulting Capacity

The Board of Directors of Palmer Square, Inc. has accepted with regret the resignation of Fred M. Blaicher as president and chief executive officer, effective June 30.

Mr. Blaicher has been its president since June, 1958, and during this period has been responsible for frequent expansion of the Square, including the completion of buildings at 32 Nassau Street, One Palmer Square and the several extensions of the Nassau Inn. He will continue his association with Palmer Square as a member of the executive committee of the board of directors and as a consultant on present operations and future development.

Mr. Blaicher commented, "I have greatly enjoyed my part in the continuing effort to make and keep Palmer Square an attractive nucleus for the business area of Princeton. However, there is much more to be done in the future development of Palmer Square, and particularly in the area north of Hulfish Street.

"In view of the improving business climate and the expected completion of the regional sewage treatment plant, this is an appropriate time to begin to think again of a project to strengthen and enliven the downtown area. This will be a long term project and it seems appropriate that I now turn over the reins to a younger person who will be able to see this development phase through to its conclusion over the coming years. I am particularly pleased that I shall have the opportunity to be a part of this planning and development without the day-to-day responsibility for current operations."

Churches throughout Princeton Area Making Plans for Special Services on Palm Sunday

This Sunday is Palm Sunday, the commemoration in Christian churches of the day that Jesus entered Jerusalem on a donkey and was greeted by crowds of people waving palm branches.

Palm Sunday observances in Princeton area churches range from special music and the distribution of palms to a special service of lay witness at a Pennington Church and a teaching-preaching mission at the University by a Scottish minister.

The Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church is preparing special music for the 11 a.m. service on Sunday. The adult choir will be joined by several Westminster Choir College students in a "Double Choir Hosanna," "The Palms" and "In Remembrance." The children's choir will wear their new robes and sing two selections.

Stephen Byard will be the children's choir soloist. Brass instruments and violins will accompany the choirs. Anthony White of the Choir College is the choir director, and the Rev Charles E. Quillan is pastor.

The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street, will hold Palm Sunday services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday School will be at 9:30 and Bible classes at 9:45.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Schurch, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction, will hold a special service Sunday at 11 which will consist of the blessing and distribution of palms, a dramatic reading of the Passion story and Holy Communion. A coffee fellowship period will follow. The Rev. Frederick Schott, 799-1753, is pastor.

Lenten and Easter week services at the Princeton University Chapel will be highlighted by a teaching-preaching mission featuring the Rev. Dr. William Cattanach, minister of St. George's West Church of Edinburgh, Scotland, Dr. Cattanach's visit is under the sponsorship of the Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar Lecture Program.

Dr. Cattanach, who is engaged in a city center mission to the city and University of Edinburgh, is a specialist in radio and television broadcasting, using contemporary techniques to communicate the Gospel. He will be introduced to students and visitors Thursday at noon at a luncheon in Murray-Dodge Hall. That evening at 9:30 in a Service of Dedication and Laying on of Hands, Dr. Cattanah will give a sermon, "Contemporary Apostles," in the Chapel Chancel.

On Palm Sunday, Dr. Cattanach and Dean Gordon will engage in a dialogue, "Christ Confronts Our Culture," at the 11 a.m. service in the chapel. The following week Dr. Cattanach will talk on "Current Controversies" Tuesday at 12:30 and "Preparation for Service" Tuesday at 8 p.m. and Wednesday, April 6, at 12:30.

Princeton Theological Seminary will hold a service of Holy Communion in Miller Chapel Palm Sunday at 10 as the opening of the formal observance of Holy Week. The following Tuesday will be given to a campus-wide fast.

The First United Methodist Church in Pennington will turn its attention to the Lay Witness Movement and to healing and religion in a series of special Holy Week services and events.

Dr. David Fluck, recently retired Mercer County Medical Examiner, previous medical missionary and active Methodist layman, will be the featured speaker at the annual Palm Sunday Men's Communion Breakfast at the church on South Main Street, Pennington. The service starts at 7 a.m. and welcomes all men and boys. Dr. Fluck will talk on "Medicine and Religion."

A Service of Lay Witness is planned Palm Sunday evening with Doug Strickland, the national director of the Lay Witness Movement in the United Methodist Church. Mr. Strickland will be accompanied by his wife; former Hopewell Valley residents David and Janet Veiswender, now of Haddonfield; and Dean and Janet Ely of Moorestown who recently led a Lay Witness Mission in Titusville. Mary Boughton will join the team to lead the congregation in Gospel singing.

On Monday evening, Dr. Milton Marion of Pennington will speak on "The Physician and Healing," continuing the theme the church has emphasized throughout Lent. Tuesday evening The Rev. David N. Cousins, pastor, will speak on "Healing and the Christian Pastor." The Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart, professor of Christian Ethics at Princeton Theological Seminary, will speak on "Healing and Christian Ethics" Wednesday evening.

All services will be at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary. The public is welcome to attend any or all.

"FERNWOOD"

"Fougeres des Bois" (or something of the sort) should be the name of this enchanting house since it looks, inside and out, like a "maison" straight from the French countryside! White stucco, dark wood trim, rough plaster walls, exposed beams, nooks, crannies, arched doorway, etc., all contribute to the look. Entrance hall, big stepdown living room with fireplace, dining room with built-in china cupboards, panelled library with fireplace, charming kitchen with eating space, panelled family room, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, laundry/utility room make delightful family living space Added practical assets are many, with the topper a highly rental studio apartment with separate entrance.

A screen fenced brick terrace overlooks a natural, rockstrewn 2½ acres and big woods, in which is a tree house designed, believe it or not, by Robert Hillier. Our NEW LIGHT LISTING est tres charmant! Asking $120,000

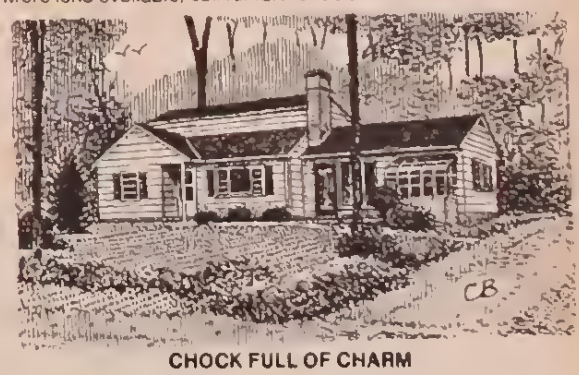
"THE BISHOP'S HILL"

Though few people know this property by that name (thereby hangs a tale), a great many know it as one of the very loveliest - inside and out - in all of Princeton. Surrounded by masses of flowering dogwood, fruitful apple trees, stunning evergreens, mature landscaping, and edged by old woods, this charming brick and frame house graces its high hilltop setting

The rooms - entrance hall, living room, dining room, studio/family room, master suite plus 3 more bedrooms, eat-in kitchen, and laundry - range from large to spacious 4 baths, 3 fireplaces, beautiful decorative detail, and innumerable practical and aesthetic details make this house a happy combination of beauty and comfort, formal grace and country warmth. All this and more, together with a pretty swimming pool, rose garden and handsome terrace, on 3½ beautifully secluded acres offered at $250,000

More land available, call for further details.



CHOCK FULL OF CHARM

and shiny clean and neat as a pin from top to bottom, this 3 or possibly 4-bedroom Cape Cod has just about everything a family of 3 or 4 - or possibly 5 - could want! Living room with beamed ceiling and fireplace, kitchen, adjoining breakfast room with wet bar, 3 bedrooms, den or 4th bedroom, 2 baths, enclosed porch - all are delightful, but the highlight has to be the surprisingly spacious dining room opening on a greenhouse! There's a good basement too, with workshop space, laundry tub, and a possible play area. All on a lovely low-care acre complete with brook and birdcover, and backed by old woods and yet comfortably convenient to good shopping. This LIGHT listing is really a bright one at the low-for-Princeton asking price of $75,000

King's Grant is the Exclusive Local Representative for Homerica, The Nation's Leading Home-Finding Service

King's Grant is particularly pleased to present one of Princeton's most distinguished properties; - a superb Georgian house on 43 acres of lawns, gardens and meadows in Princeton's handsomest area northwest of town.

Entering this great and gracious house, guests are greeted in the handsomely panelled entrance hall with black and white marble floor. The exquisite architectural detail is but an introduction to that found throughout the house, much of it imported from England. To the left is the morning room with a delicate marble mantel, deep wood cornice, pedimented door and a bow window looking out to the garden. The wide, graceful staircase with polished mahogany handrail ascends to the six family bedrooms and sitting room above.

The living room is a spacious 28' x 22' with magnificent fireplace and over-mantel, and doors opening to a terrace and to the greenhouse. The panelled dining room, also unusually large, with 18th century English mantel and finely carved pedimented doors can accommodate at least twenty at dinner. The far end of the dining room, with a sweeping vista of fields and hills through the lunetted French windows, provides space for a breakfast table in the bay.

The knotty pine panelled library with lighted cove ceiling, is a handsome book-lined retreat and in conjunction with the living room, adds further to the spaciousness of the house for entertaining.

The long covered terrace opens to the south lawn from the morning room and the living room. The magnificent ironwork is handsomely detailed in a intertwined oak leaf motif. Further along the south facade of the house is the fine large greenhouse with its own open terrace more informal in character and adjoining the cutting garden. Just outside the dining room is another terrace with a green garden, perhaps for afternoon tea, offering complete privacy yet with views across serene woods and greens where songbirds, pheasant and deer are found quietly grazing. In the English tradition of the private park there are brick and hedge enclosed gardens, a field planted in American holly, specimen shade trees, a stand of mature evergreens and a small meandering brook. In every season of the year these acres are a delight to the nature lover. Country living at its finest, yet exactly one mile from Nassau Street and the campus of Princeton University.

ONE OF PRINCETON'S most gracious houses...attributed to Steadman and moved from its original location to this lovely two acre lot with trees and formal gardens, not to mention more than twelve exquisite holly trees, near Carnegie Lake, on the West Windsor side. A modern wing was incorporated in the 40's that blends in beautifully with the original! Mouldings, panelling, mantels, floors, all seem the same vintage. A master bedroom suite with full bath and doors to the patio is nearby. Of course, a formal dining room, and super family kitchen completes the first floor. Bedrooms upstairs are in separate wings with two and a full bath in one part, and three with two baths in another. All new wiring, heating, of course, and a barn/garage completes this almost perfect picture for the family who wants to live in Princeton for the convenience and an older house for its charm and character. Offered at $210,000

Demolition of Benson Building Due Shortly As Owner Sorts Out Plans for Replacing It

FAMILIAR SCENE: Branches now just beginning to bud were sheathed in ice from fireman's hoses when the Benson Building burned January 21. Owner Lawrence Benson plans to raze the gutted shell before long, and wants any new structure on the site to be "just right" for the Princeton community.

"You can't do a thing of that magnitude in a hurry," observed Lawrence Benson in a telephone interview from Florida this week. "I'm getting various proposals and thinking over the size of a building and so on. I want to do just the right thing and come up with something the town and I can be proud of."

Rumors of all kinds have been here and there in the business community ever since the disastrous Benson Building fire two and one-half months ago — on January 21. A new three-story building constructed by the owner? Sale of the property and construction by new owners? A parking lot?

But Mr. Benson is weighing his time, and pointing out that he can't very well say anything firm because he himself hasn't yet decided what he will do.

An Elastic Deadline. One thing he does have to do is open the sidewalk to pedestrian traffic and raze the gutted ruins. The Borough has given him 30 days from a letter of March 9 to have the sidewalk opened "in the interests of the general public."

Borough Engineer George Olexa said this week that if Mr. Benson has made significant progress — such as hiring a demolition firm that can't start work until May, for example — the Borough will extend the deadline.

It's in the Borough's interest to do so. If the municipality lowers a boom on deadline day, the taxpayers will have to pay for demolition. Mr. Olexa's office would much rather Mr. Benson would pay.

Neither Mr. Benson nor Mr. Olexa is sure when demolition will start, although the engineer says with a grin, "We'd like to give him a permit tomorrow!"

How To Do It. Razing the ruins is complicated by the fact that Mr. Benson hasn't decided what to do, Mr. Olexa said. From the Borough's point of view, the best thing would be to scour the whole thing completely clean: remove the free - standing walls to ground level, dig out all the festering debris in the basement and fill the hole with sand.

The basement, incidentally, extends under the sidewalk on the Witherspoon side of the building.

If Mr. Benson simply removes the walls to ground level, then a six or eight-foot plywood fence will be built at the store - front line on both Spring and Witherspoon, thereby opening up sidewalks to walkers.

Inside, there is a common brick wall with the Urken Supply Company building. For a while, neither Irv Urken nor Mr. Benson knew whose wall was whose, and the matter is still somewhat in doubt, although it seems probable that there is a 12-inch Benson brick wall flat against a six - inch Urken brick wall.

"My mother had a binder of old deeds going back to 1885," Mr. Urken says, "and in that folder was a discussion between my parents and the Branch family — the Benson Building was the Branch Building, you know — in the mid - 1950's when Benson bought the building. It turns out that Benson and Urken each encroach on the other's land!

"There was a survey report, but no survey," Mr. Urken continues, "so I asked Homer Zink, of Smith, Stratton and Wise, and he remembered handling the sale. Well, lawyers never throw anything away and the firm still had the Van Note Harvey survey."

Using this survey as a guide, Mr. Olexa believes, the walls can be pried apart and Urken bricks left on their side and Benson bricks removed.

Girders encased in these walls must first be removed, Mr. Olexa says. Urken's — which is open and bustling with business — will have to be closed one day while that is done.

The cost of all this is something Mr. Olexa won't even guess at.

University Cleaners Easy. "It was cheaper to raze the University Cleaners building a few weeks ago than it will be to do this," he predicts. "That was a free - standing building that was completely eliminated and it had no basement. You just went in with a bulldozer. You can't do that here. And we'll have to close off Spring Street for a while."

Whether insurance covers this or not, depends on whether Mr. Benson has

LIVING BY DESIGN: Here is Noel Coward's famous menage a trois, as it will appear in McCarter's production of "Design for Living," opening this Thursday at 7:30 and continuing for the three weekends. "Menage" it may be, but Michael Allinson, Meg Wynn Owen and Patrick Horgan don't seem much concerned with house-keeping. (Cliff Moore Photo)

THREE, FROM BRITAIN

For "Design for Living." The British stage and television studios have sent to McCarter the three actors who will carry leading roles in the Noel Coward comedy, "Design for Living," opening this Thursday at the theatre at 7:30 p.m. It will play through Sunday, April 17.

Gilda, the love in the life of two suitors — Leo and Otto — will be Meg Wynn Owen, Welsh - born actress widely known in this country for her portrayal of Hazel Bellamy in the television series, "Upstairs, Downstairs." She made her Broadway debut last year with the Royal Shakespeare Company in Tom Stoppard's "Travesties." For the past six years, she has worked extensively in British television and films.

Leo will be Michael Allinson, London - born, and widely experienced on the British stage. He is known here through his appearances on the American television serial, "Love of Life," and for his portrayal of Henry Higgins in the original Broadway run of "My Fair Lady." He played opposite Ingrid Bergman in "The Constant Wife" and Dina Merrill in "Angel Street."

Patrick Horgan, who will be Otto, is another English - born actor — although his parents were Irish. He is Ansel Scott on American TV's "The Edge of Night" and played Dr. John Morrison for three years on "The Doctors." He was Sherlock Holmes in the play of that name, and King George VI in "Crown Matrimonial." His credits also include Broadway productions of "Beyond the Fringe," "Baker Street" and "Heartbreak House."

Sets and costumes from the 1930s have been designed by Zack Brown, and Patrik D.

TWYLA IN WINGS

With Adidas, Point Shoes. It turns out that's only the company's working title of Twyla Tharp's new work —" ....for Adidas and point shoes." But it will be given, title or not, when the Tharp company makes its Princeton debut at McCarter Tuesday, April 12 at 8 p.m.

The program will also include a pair of earlier works from the company's repertoire. These are "The Fugue" and "The Bix Pieces," dedicated to Bix Biederbecke.

Twyla Tharp has choreographed over 40 compositions for her own company in the past ten years, and has also created for the City Center Joffrey Ballet, the American Ballet Theatre and for soloists Mikhail Baryshnikov and John Curry, the figure - skating champion.

FAREWELL, MY LOVELY

1975 Film. Philip Marlowe, Raymond Chandler's famous detective, appears in the person of Robert Mitchum in the 1975 film, "Farewell, My Lovely," scheduled for a pair of screenings — 8 and 10 p.m. — next Wednesday, April 6 at McCarter.

Director Dick Richards has followed closely Chandler's own prose and has preserved the characters intact from the novel. Critics found Mitchum the equal of such other Marlowes as Bogart, in his delineation of the character's "weary cynicism, boozy wistfulness, wry humor and tender heart."

The film also captures the neon-lit, back-alley Los Angeles of the early 1940s.

ROMANCE.....

At Intime. Jean Anouilh's romantic spring comedy, "Ring Round the Moon" will close Theatre Intime's 58th season with a production ready to open next Thursday, April 7. The theatre is Murray Theatre on the University campus.

Geoffrey Rich, Intime's producer, is directing. He calls "Ring Round the Moon" a "sparkling charade of farce, romance, music and mistaken identities." The play is laid in Paris in April, 1914, at an elegant Parisian ball. Twin brothers -- a self-assured man-about-town and his younger twin, described as "a lost puppydog in a world of female cats" – maneuver around two lovely young women and are rescued only by the appearance of a father and an aunt.

The twins will be played by Clayton Platt. Coco Myers and Erica McFarquhar will be the felines and Jamie Horton and Margaret Emory will be the middle-aged relatives who resolve it all. Others in the cast are Denise Seutter, Jim Mullins, Alex Halsey, Miche Harvey and Mr. Rich.

"Ring Round the Moon" will play April 7, 8 and 9; 13, 14, 15 and 16 all at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be reserved at 452-8181.

OSCAR WILDE HIMSELF

"Earnest," by Players. A London-born speech consultant and a bi-national cast of British actors and Americans -- Princeton residents, to be more specific - guarantee the authenticity of Community Players' production of "The Importance of Being Earnest," to be given over three week-ends starting April 29.

The Oscar Wilde classic is the fourth and final production of the season for the Players. Groups, as well as individuals, are invited to join the audience and special group rates are available. Information about them may be obtained at 883-7355.

Judith Forusz, president of the Players, is directing the comedy. She has chosen such Princeton actors as Anne Sheldon, Herbert McAneny, Suzie Bertin, Denise Seutter and Lori Krevsky. Her Britons are Stephen McConnell, Spencer Gates, Roger Lipman and Phyllis Furley. Diana Crane, London-born, will assure the propriety of the accents. Charmaine Gates is assistant director.

...WITH THE DAFFODILS:

Summer Intime. No leaves on the trees yet, but Summer Intime – which will occupy Murray Theatre when Theatre Intime packs up its trunks -- is already discussing which plays to do, and looking through the scenery for actors and stage technicians.

Anybody who would like to audition is invited to Murray Theatre Monday and Tuesday, April 11 and 12. Resumes and photos should be sent to Summer Intime, Murray Theatre, Princeton, N.J. 08540. Audition times may be arranged at 452-8181.

What will play? Geoffrey Rich and Clayton Platt, producers, are considering "Candida," "Misalliance," "The Lady from the Sea," "The Knack," "Look What We've Come Through," "110 in the Shade," "Holiday" and "Moonchildren."

PREMIERE

In New Brunswick. "The Memoirs of Charlie Pops," a new play about family life today in New York's Little Italy will be given its professional premiere at the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick, next Thursday, April 7.

It will run through April 23, playing Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 17 at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The play, by Joseph Hart, a member of the Theatre Arts faculty at Douglass, deals with causes leading to the disruption of the stable domestic world over which Charlie Pops has ruled for half a century.

"Immortality" is the issue of the play, the author has said. He has employed the rough-hewn, rhythmic

LAWRENCEVILLE

Slap Shot: One of the few sanctioned sports likely to provoke fights, bloody noses and a generally-accepted spirit of foul play and mayhem is hockey. With Paul Newman as an aging player-coach of a third-rate local hockey team, "Slap Shot" skates into this brutal world with all the crudeness, roughneck violence and obscene language that might be expected.

Playing decidedly against type, Newman does not utter more than a few socially acceptable words without following through with a barrage of obscene language that may offend many. But the casual brutality, lowlife mentality and language are all played for liberating laughs.

Though one may feel slightly uncomfortable or even guilty about it, Slap Shot is great fun and strangely exhilarating. For hockey buffs, a must.

PRINCE

Mohammad: Messenger of God. Despite the claims of the Washington, D.C. terrorists, "Mohammad: Messenger of God" is respectful to and reverent of the story of the birth of the Moslem religion 1300 years ago.

Three hours long, the film is chronicled with the kind of bloated resources Hollywood once could afford to lavish on Judeo-Christian epics. Reportedly budgeted at $17 million, two versions were filmed simultaneously, one in English and one in Arabic, and financed by three oil-producing Arab countries.

The story of Mohammadism's growth from persecuted sect to one of the world's major religions has an inherent fascination. But although it is beautifully photographed and contains some rousing battle scenes and a dominating portrayal by Anthony Quinn as Mohammad's crusading warrior uncle (the title character can't be depicted on the screen) the story unfolds at a leaden pace.

There is one surprisingly welcome quality, too. Unlike Hollywood's all-or-none glorification of Mosaic law and Christianity, the film bends over backwards to show the common roots of the world's three major religions.

A third year graduate student in music history, Miss Rohrer graduated from Emory University where she conducted the Emory Women's Chorale and was a member of the Chamber Singers and the Emory Opera Workshop. At Princeton she is assistant conductor of Musica Alta, a campus group devoted to the performance of music of the Middle Ages and Renaissance, and is studying voice with Shirlee Emmons.

For her program Miss Rohrer will perform works by Luzzaschi, Bach, Beethoven, Ibert, Thea Musgrave and William Flanagan.

SIT ON STAGE?

For Larrocha. That's All. Stage seats only are all that remain for the Princeton appearance on Tuesday, April 19 of Alicia de Larrocha, the Spanish pianist who is returning to Princeton as a guest of Music-at-McCarter.

For her program, she has chosen Five Sonatas, by Soler, the Grieg Sonata in E minor, Opus 7; "Impressiones Intimas," by Mompou; the Sonata Espanola by Espla and Granados' "Allegro de concierto."

Senora de Larrocha has made major tours of the United States and Canada every year since 1966, appearing each year in Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall and at the Kennedy Center in Washington. She has performed more frequently for Lincoln Center's "Mostly Mozart" festival than any other performer.

QUARTET HERE

In Series II Concert. The New Hungarian Quartet will appear in Princeton on Monday, April 11, at 8:30 in McCarter Theatre in the fourth concert of Series II of the Princeton University Concerts.,

Continuing the Beethoven-Brahms theme for Series II, the Quartet will perform Beethoven's "Quartet in F Major" Opus 18, No. 1 and Brahms "Quartet in A Minor" Opus 51, No. 2 and "Quartet in C Minor" opus 51, No. 1.

The New Hungarian Quartet, only in its fourth year of existence, was formed after the famous Hungarian Quartet disbanded. Violist Denes Koromzay, a founder of the older group, is the sole survivor in the new quartet. The New Hungarians combine the young musicians Andor Toth, Jr., cellist, and Richard Young, violinist, with the mature artists Andor Toth, Sr., violinist, and Denes Koromzay.

The Quartet has a busy 76-77 season, with appearances in Philadelphia and Atlanta and all the way to Los Angeles and San Diego, as well as several weeks in Europe. Its members spend part of each school year as artists-in-residence at the Conservatory of Oberlin College in Ohio, where they perform regularly and teach master classes in chamber music technique and repertoire.

Tickets at $7.25 and $5.95 are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office, and student tickets at $2.50 are available the day of the concert.

PIANIST TO PLAY

In A Sunday Concert. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present Mimi Chen, pianist, in a free concert on Sunday, April 10, at 3 in Woolworth Center, on the University campus.

A sophomore at Princeton, Miss Chen studied for 11 years in Juilliard's pre-college division. She has performed at Bowdoin College, Seton Hall University and in Paul Hall at the Waldorf-Astoria. She is currently studying with Jane Carlson of the Juilliard School.

For her program, Miss Chen will play Scarlatti: Sonata in D Major, Sonata in D Minor and Sonata in F Minor; Schubert: Sonata in A Major; Franz Liszt: Gnomenreigen; Chopin: Etude in E Major, Opus 10, No. 3 and Scherzo in B Minor, Opus 20; Ginastera: Suite de Danzas Criollas.

GUITARIST HERE

In Children's Program at the Library. Durant Robertson, classical guitarist, will present a concert for preschool children Wednesday, April 13, at 3:30 in the Children's room of the Public Library.

Mr. Robertson, who has performed at Carl Fisher Hall and Lincoln Center, has composed music for the book, "Platero and I." Edith Kogan will read selections from Juan Ramon Jimenez's book in a program suitable for children ages 3½ and up. No tickets or registration are required.

TO SING SCHUTZ WORK

At Choir College. The Westminster Chamber Singers of Westminster Choir College, conducted by Dennis Shrock, will present St. John Passion of Heinrich Schutz on Tuesday at 10 in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus. The public is invited without charge.

The Schutz work, written in 1665-66, follows a tradition begun in the 12th century when plainsong chants of the Passion story were sung on Palm Sunday and the following days during Holy Week. Schutz, the greatest of all German composers of his age, perfected a balance between the Italian style of Gabrieli and Monteverdi with the Lutheran polyphonic tradition.

The Westminster Chamber Singers is a group of 25 voices-a cross between a small chorus and a large group of soloists.

LITTON TO CONDUCT

As Amateurs End Season. The last meeting this season for the Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday at 4 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road and Route 206. James Litton, director of music at Trinity Church, will conduct a reading of Vaughan Williams' "Dona Nobis Pacem," for chorus, orchestra, and soloists. The soloists will be Robinson, soprano, and Gordon Myers, bass.

These readings given by the Musical Amateurs are not performances, and are open to anyone with modest sight-reading ability and musical interest, who would like to participate or attend. There is a small charge for non-members to cover music and refreshments. All students are admitted without charge. For further information call Mrs. Michael Ramus at 924-4266.

ART
In Princeton

NEW GALLERY OPENS

In New Hope. A gallery of fine primitive and naive painting and sculpture has opened in New Hope, Pa., with a Princeton resident as one of its backers.

The gallery is named after the Haitian coastal village of Jacmel, home of many of Haiti's most distinguished artists. The paintings are shown in a warm setting of tropical plants, brick floors and colorful Haitian fabrics, which reflect the atmosphere of the paintings.

During April, Jacmel Gallery will feature the work of several major Haitian primitives, including Andre Pierre, Gerard Valcin, Prefete Duffaut and Jean Gilles. The largest Haitian masterwork ever painted on canvas, a 16-foot long "Imaginary Village" by Duffaut, will be present in the collection.

The owners first began collecting Haitian art in the mid-60s and decided upon the gallery project after spending much of last summer getting to know Haitian artists while living in Jacmel. Primitive and Naive paintings form the major portion of the gallery's present catalogue. However, some French post-Impressionist and contemporary American work will also be exhibited and will be welcomed in the future. Jacmel Galleries is also opening a selective craft shop for foreign and domestic craftsmen in New Hope later this spring.

The gallery was started by Katherine Book, of 74 Gallup Road and Roy Pedersen and Dan Sullivan, two New Jersey physcho-therapists. The Gallery at 30 N. Main will be open each day from 11 to 5 and by appointment. (Tel. 215-862-2115).

'THE GARDEN' is an example of the primitive art on view at new gallery in New Hope which counts Katharine Book of Princeton among its backers.

To Feed the Kite Flyers

All non-profit organizations that wish to have food booths on the May 7 Kite Day are asked to call Zelda Laschever, 921-6091, from 6-9 p.m. before Thursday, March 31.

The event is sponsored by the Arts Council of Princeton.

On succeeding Saturdays the church will be open from 2-6 and on Sundays.

Gerry B. Kimble of Princeton is presenting a collection of "mixed media" art works as her exhibition for a third show in the 1812 Room at the Lambertville House, Lambertville. She has recently graduated as a fine arts major from Rider College.

Ms. Kimble has maintained a studio in Princeton and has taught Adult School classes in Hunterdon County and elsewhere in the state for many years. Her collage technique is executed in a Japanese method, using rice paper and acrylic media and paint.

Ms. Kimble has participated in 26 juried shows and has had 14 one - man exhibitions. She will be teaching in Flemington in April and May this year.

ART AUCTION SET

By Learning Disabilities Clinic. The Lewis Clinic for Educational Therapy will sponsor an art auction on April 16 at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street, with a preview at 7:45 and auction at 8:45.

The fine Arts Gallery of Ardmore, Pa., will provide oils, watercolors, enamels, lithographs and sculpture by Leroy Neiman, James West, Charles Parthesius, Hal Singer and others at 20 to 60 percent below Gallery Prices.

Tickets are available by calling Heather Herman 448-2457 or Gayle Riggs (201) 521-3219 or at the door at a cost of $1.50 per person. Refreshments will be served. Proceeds will benefit children with learning disabilities.

EXHIBITIONS

The Princeton Medical Center is exhibiting the paintings of Jane Jones of Yardley, Pa., through April 30. Mrs. Jones, a member of the Princeton Art Association and the Levittown Artists Association, is a layout artist Trenton. She began painting while teaching home economics in Alaska and is presently studying watercolers with Lucille Geiser at the Princeton Art Association.

Western Electric's Corporate Education Center on Carter Road is currently featuring an exhibit by John Powell of New Hope. Mr. Powell's work has been exhibited widely and is included in the corporate collections of companies such as Johnson & Johnson.

The gallery is open Monday through Friday from 9-4 and on Sundays from 1-4. The present exhibit will remain through May 1.

Collages and plexiglas constructions by Princeton artist George Greene will be on view four Saturdays and Sundays in April in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road. The exhibit will open this Saturday from 4-6, and the Hopewell, N.Y. Consort will play Medieval and Renaissance music on authentic instruments while viewers browse.

Works by Mr. Greene are in the permanent collection of the Guggenheim Museum, the Addison Gallery of American Art, the Norton Gallery and in many private collections. A graduate of Harvard and the Art Student's League, the artist has exhibited widely both here and abroad.

Benson Building

enough insurance, local agents say.

Meanwhile, some of the burned-out shops have revived, but Paul Hill, operator - owner of the popular market that bore the family name, has said he will not reopen. The store, in its fourth generation under the Hill family, had been founded in 1909.

Adlerman, Click, the real-estate insurance firm, moved across the street to 4-6 Hulfish. Able to save all of its records, it was in operation less than 100 yards away from the disaster area within a matter of hours after the Benson building had been destroyed.

Welcome Aboard, the travel agency which the building housed, was open for business the following week at 2 Nassau Street. It took Eye for Art, one of the galleries which lost its home, a little longer to relocate, but this month it began business again at 6 Spring Street.

"On Consignment" likes its larger, street - front quarters at 4 Chambers Street and finds them better than what it calls the "basement labyrinths" in the Benson Building's old Spring Street side. But the rent is double, and the shop now takes a larger percentage of the sale when customers lesve things to be sold.

Barry Snyder, of the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, says he wants desperately to get back into the center of Princeton again, although he says feelingly that it was a "blessing" that he already had his gallery at 40 South Main in Yardley, Pennsylvania.

He would like a minimum of 1,000 square feet, and footage like this is hard to find unless it's a long, narrow tunnel-like space, which is no good for a gallery. A house in the center of town, in a neighborhood zoned "commercial" at a price not too high.....that would be ideal.

"It was fantastic," Mr. Snyder marvels, still recalling the letters and calls he received after the fire, not just from customers, he reports, but from people "who felt that losing our gallery was a cultural loss to the town."

Mr. Urken, who had a narrow escape and suffered "only" water damage, still shudders when he looks at the shelves of pressurized spray cans of paint and the paint - varnish remover that could have exploded in the heat if the fire had reached that part of the store.

He is selling smoke alarms "like crazy!" The devices could hardly have a better salesman.

APPLICATIONS OPEN

For Nursery School. Applications are now being accepted by the University League Nursery School, 171 Broadmead, for enrollment during 1977-78.

While priority is given to University-affiliated families until May 1, the school is open to all residents of the Princeton area. Classes of three to five-year-old children meet four or five mornings a week during the academic year, from 8:45 until 11:30. An extended day class, lasting till 1, is also available.

Currently directed by Mrs. Shirley Fox, the school enrolls 64 children in four classes of 16 each. Complementing the staff of four master teachers, four assistant teachers and a visiting music teacher, are the children's parents, who take turns assisting in the classrooms. As a cooperative nursery school, the ULNS can offer a combination of moderate tuition fees and a stimulating phyaical and intellectual environment because of the contributions from members of the Princeton community.

Parents are invited to visit the school at any time to observe classroom activities; an Open House for parents and children will be held April 28. For more information on the remaining openings, call Betty Hurwitz at 924-4258.

LOTS OF ENERGY?

Library Has. If you're short on energy, these spring-fever days, the public library invites you to a spring festival with "Energy" as its theme. And they haven't forgotten that Library Week comes in April.

The "Energy" theme will be visible in a window display of books and pamphlets. (And because of the season, the collection of Easter eggs assembled over the years by Mrs. Gordon Griffin, will also be on display.)

During the week of April 4-7, there will be movies at 3:30 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for children on vacation. On Wednesday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m., movies will be shown in Princeton Community Village's social room.

"Showboat," starring Paul Robeson, will be screened Tuesday, April 12 at 2:30 p.m. and at 8 p.m. in the library. On Wednesday, April 13 at 3:30 p.m. in the children's room, guitarist Durant Robertson will accompany a reading of the Spanish classic, "Platero and I," the story of a boy and his donkey. This program has been designed for children three and one-half and older.

Later that day, at 7:30 p.m. the Poetry Workshop will hold its monthly meeting. Mem-

SIXTH GRADE FOR HUN

Ready Next Fall. The introduction next fall of a sixth grade at The Hun School has been announced by Headmaster Thomas M. Woodward Jr. The new grade will not alter the size of Hun, as a reduction will be made in the upper school to keep overall enrollment at 500 or less, Mr. Woodward said.

Hun presently offers day and residential programs in grades 7-12 for college-bound boys and girls. Mr. Woodward said that the sixth grade addition "will strengthen the entire middle school, which will function as a 6-7-8 curricular unit with a new, full autonomy in a setting and schedule relatively separated from the upper school. Present planning includes special programming for the fine arts, physical education, reading, extra-curricular activities and assembly programs.

"We will also have more time to teach fundamentals – especially mathematics and English -- and to build study skills prior to Upper School entrance. In addition, student attitudes toward schoolwork in general, or a specific subject such as mathematics, are often established by the middle school experience, and we want to work with a boy or girl right from the outset of this period," the Headmaster added.

"The move to a sixth grade also is a response to requests from parents that Hun provide students with a total middle school experience, rather than one beginning in the seventh grade. In general, these parents are interested in a disciplined, structured academic and campus environment for their children," Mr. Woodward commented.

Now Hear This! Public Address System To Keep Passengers at Junction Posted

New Jersey Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner has announced that "Train Tracker," a new commuter information system, will begin operation Monday, at seven railroad stations along the Amtrak main line from Elizabeth to Princeton Junction.

"Information on scheduled train arrivals is announced over a speaker system, with emphasis on whether trains are on time or late," Commissioner Sagner said. "When a train is late, commuters are informed of the amount of time the train is delayed."

He said that "Train status messages originate in Amtrak's New York City train dispatcher's office and announcements are made live, directly through speakers on station platforms whenever an abnormal condition occurs. The message also is heard by each ticket agent over separate speakers in the ticket offices."

The latest train situation then is recorded on a repeating tape, and the message may be heard by any commuter, on demand, by pressing a push button on the column or wall directly beneath the speaker box.

ADMINISTRATOR NAMED

For Franklin Township Schools. Dr. Robert A. Freda was appointed associate superintendent of the Franklin Township Public Schools at the Board of Education's March meeting. Presently Director of Secondary Education for the Jackson Township, New Jersey, school district, Mr. Freda will assume his new duties in Franklin Monday.

The new associate superintendent is also a co-adjutant professor at the Rutgers Graduate School of Education, as well as a staff consultant on educational programs, for the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

After receiving a B.A. in Spanish, education and history, Dr. Freda acquired a master's degree from Montclair State College and the University of Madrid. He completed administrative and supervisory requirements at Trenton State College and, in fall of 1976, was awarded a Doctor of Education degree from Rutgers Graduate School.

Dr. Freda began his teaching career in 1962, at the Union Regional District No. 1 in Springfield, New Jersey, where he served as a Spanish instructor until 1967. He then went to Jackson Township, as chairperson for foreign language studies and became administrative assistant to the superintendent in 1968. In this capacity, Freda was director of the adult school, was in charge of elementary and secondary curriculum development, and supervised federal aid programs, such as Head Start, Neighborhood Youth Corps and Upward Bound. In 1973, he became director of secondary education for the district.

CIRCUS, A LA CALDER: Alexander Calder, whose mobiles are fascinating to children and parents alike, is the inspiration for this circus assembled by Community Park art teacher Ted Lynch. He's shown here, with Susanne Salkind, third-grader in one of his art classes. Children in Community Park are making Calder-style mobiles, and examining souvenirs of the Whitney Museum Calder retrospective on view, along with prints, books and photographs, in the Community Park Lobby. Mr. Lynch showed a color film of Calder's circus theme "sculpture/toys" in this Wednesday's assemblies.

APPLICATIONS DUE

For Windsor Lions Scholarships. The West Windsor Lions Club are accepting applicants for two annual scholarships which are awarded each year to a boy and a girl graduating from high school. The $200 award must be used for further education.

Applicants must be residents of West Windsor but may be graduates of any high school. Applications are available from the main desk of the West Windsor-Plainsboro High School on Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction.

ITEMS SOUGHT

By Windsor Lions Club. To further their many youth and civic projects and their concern for the blind, the West Windsor Lions Club is seeking a number of different items from used furniture to cancelled postage stamps.

To those who may be moving this spring, the Lions suggest donating any excess furniture to their annual auction. Howard Eldridge, 452-9579, auction chairman, will arrange for pick-up, and the Lions will give each donor a tax exempt receipt form. Proceeds from the auction will be used by the Lions for their many youth, eye and civic projects.

The club also is continuing to collect U.S. and foreign stamps to give to institutions where people can pass many hours working on a stamp collection. Collection boxes are at Lucar Hardware and Will's Shell Station on the Hightstown Road in Princeton Junction as well as at the West Windsor public library, Rossmoor, Meadow Lakes Village and the Plainsboro Post Office. Call Bernt Midland, 799-1642, if there is interest in having a collection in any additional locations.

The Lions are also urging people to consider donating their eyes after death so that others may have the gift of sight. Blindness is often caused by a defective cornea, the tiny piece of transparent tissue that covers the front of the iris and pupil. The Delaware Valley Eye Bank maintains files of thousands of people who have willed their eyes for corneal transplants, for which poor vision and the wearing of glasses makes little difference.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's an interesting question that even a lot of experts have trouble answering...Which RIGHT-HANDER in big league baseball history hit the most home runs in one season?...The answer can't be Babe Ruth or Roger Maris since they were lefties, and it isn't Hank Aaron because the most he ever hit in any one season were 47...Answer is Jimmy Foxx and Hank Greenberg...Each hit 58 homers in one season--Foxx in 1932 and Greenberg in 1938.

Here's an amazing fact from last baseball season...There were five teams in the American League last year who didn't have any regulars hitting over .300...Baltimore, California, Milwaukee, Oakland and Texas had no regulars batting over .300.

Did you know there was once an owner of a sports team who fired his team but kept the coach!...Usually it works the other way...But when Ned Doyle owned Miami of the American Basketball Association, his team had a bad year in 1969-70, so he got all new players for the next season, but kept his coach, Hal Blitman...That's probably the only time that's happened in professional sports hisotry.

Question: Is a picture inventory of my house a good idea?
Answer: An excellent idea. It certainly would aid an insurance adjuster if your house was damaged by fire.

Tiger Nine Sweeps Its First 6 Games But Faces Tough Foes This Weekend in Penn and Columbia

Before sundown Saturday, Len Rivers, the native Princetonian who is in his second season as coach of the Tigers' baseball team, should know whether he has a contender in the Eastern League. By then, the Orange and Black will have played three games against two of the best in these parts--defending champion Columbia and Penn, which in recent years has fielded several solid teams.

Penn will be at Clarke Field Friday at 3 for a single game, with Columbia here Saturday at 1 for a pair of seven-inning contests. If either date is rained out, the postponed action will take place Sunday.

Rivers has good reason to wonder just how strong his 1977 aggregation is. Having lost his four best pitchers and catchers, three-fourths of his infield, a three-year center fielder and most of his power at the plate, it was more logical for him to look for enough players to fill out a roster than for any real semblance of balance and ability.

The good news is that after just one week of play, Princeotn is 6-and-0. On such a basis, there is obviously no bad news, but there is a question: just how strong was the opposition? That's what games against good eastern teams such as Penn and Columbia will tell.

Three from New England. The half dozen victories were scored at clips of two apiece over Providence, Southeastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Of the 18 games the three teams played (against Princeton, Rider and Rutgers in the first annual Central Jersey Classic), they won only two. Both were at Rutgers' expense; Princeton and Rider were each 6-0.

Southeastern Massachusetts can be discounted almost completely. Error-prone, lacking a single standout hitter or pitcher, the visitors went home with an 0-6 mark, absorbing most of their defeats by wide margins.

Princeton ran over them, 12-2 and 14-2. In the first game, the Tigers never went to bat without scoring; in the second, they topped a six-run third two innings later by sending 14 men to the plate, eight of whom scored.

Providence, like New Hampshire, generally manages to give a good account of itself on the diamond,

Lan Rivers
Is 6-and-0 for Real?

and on Clarke Field last week, the Friars were twice victims by single runs. After losing Monday, 4-3, they were Princeton's next opponent Thursday when rain, wind and cold postponed Tuesday's and Wednesday's action.

The Rhode Island nine took a 4-0 against junior Matt Gorman, two of the runs crossing on a first - inning homer. The Tigers got their first run in the third and by the bottom of the sixth had a 7-4 advantage. A four-run fourth during which shortstop Denny Spates singled home a pair was the big surge.

Score Tied at 7. Providence came even in the top of the seventh with three off Doug Larentz, but the Tigers pushed the tie-breaker around in their half of the eighth on an infield error, a single by Captain Bob Flaherty and a long sacrifice fly to center by sophomore Vic Kurylak.

Freshman Mark Cascia hurled the final two innings to gain the decision. In the ninth, successive infield errors got him in a jam but he struck out the last batter with the bases loaded.

A doubleheader Friday to make up Tuesday's postponement with Southeastern Massachusetts was a laugher despite the thermometer's inability to top 40. Another freshman pitcher, Hoon Mo Chung, worked the final 6 and two-thirds innings with dispatch after starter Paul Zoubek pulled a hamstring muscle when he slipped coming off the mound to field a roller.

Ahead 7-0 after three innings, the Tigers kept in motion sufficiently to forget about the cold as Rivers used 17 men. Freshman Ted Frangos made his mark as a designated hitter with a 360-foot solo home run to left center.

Senior Mike O-Brien coasted through six innings of the nightcap, in which Rivers was again able to use 17 players. The hitting was fairly evenly divided; in the two contests, only Kurylak, the 225-lb. first baseman, got three.

Better pitching by New Hampshire quieted the Tigers' bats in Saturday's doubleheader, but the Princeton mound staff was good enough to protect slim leads as the Orange and Black won, 3-1 and 2-1. In the opener, senior Bob Tufts became the only Tiger hurler to win twice during the week when he worked seven good innings,, striking out 10.

Two runs in the first were driven across by Flaherty's single and Kurylak's sacrifice fly. A pinch-hit single to center by Frangos provided the insurance run in the seventh, Tufts then getting his 10th strikeout to end the game with the bases loaded.

In the last contest of the week, adept bunts by freshman outfielder Nicky Sheats and sophomore Kevin Weiss squeezed home Princeton's only two runs. New Hampshire saw an early 1-0 lead erased but filled the bases in its final turn at bat.

Rivers replaced starter Matt Gorman with Mike Cascia and when the latter also had control problems, turned to Doug Lorentz. The latter fanned the first batter he faced and got the final out on a sharp grounder to first.

Rivers achieved something in the second game none of his numerous predecessors probably ever tried when he started a completely different team and left most of them in all the way. Thus the week not only saw the Tigers bat 1.000 in games won but provided an unusual degree of playing experience.

A trip to Fordham was on the schedule Thursday and after the league games this weekend, the Tigers will play at Seton Hall Monday and face Rutgers here next Wednesday. If they are 2-1 in league play and no worse than 9-3 overall after their first dozen games, the outlook for the season will appear particularly bright.

BUSY SEASON ON LAKE

For Princeton Crews. Princeton University's heavyweight and lightweight crews will both row in five regular season regattas this spring and will also make appearances at the Eastern Sprints on Lake Carnegie.

The heavyweights will host three regattas on the lake. The first will be the Logg Cup Regatta against Rutgers on April 9, the second on the 16th when they race against the Navy for the Princeton-Navy Cup and the third on April 30 when they will row against Harvard and M.I.T. for the Compton Cup. The Tigers will be in New York on April 23 for the Childs Cup with Penn and Columbia and will close the regular season with a trip to Derby, Conn., on May 8 to row against Cornell and Yale for the Carnegie Cup.

The Orange and Black will see its first action of the year on Saturday in the San Diego Classic. The Tigers were invited to the West Coast on the basis of their second place finish behind the Vesper Boat Club in the Head of the Charles Regatta last fall at Cambridge, Mass.

The lightweight crew will open with two home regattas, hosting Columbia on April 9 and then competing in the Platt Cup against Navy on April 16. On the 23rd, it will journey to Ithaca, for a race against Cornell and Rutgers, and then return home on the 30th for the Wood-Hammond Cup against Penn. The final regatta will be on May 8 when the Tigers will host Harvard and Yale in the Goldthwait Cup.

Both crews will also compete in the Eastern Sprints on Lake Carnegie on May 16, and in the IRA Regatta at Syracuse June 2-4.

TIGERS ON THE ROAD

In Lacrosse Saturday. Another of the top teams in the east, Johns Hopkins, will be Princeton's opponent Saturday in lacrosse. The Tigers will play at Baltimore, hoping for a victory over the Bluejays that has escaped them since 1966.

Their record is now 1-1 following a 19-3 romp Saturday on Finney Field against Fairleigh-Dickinson. In the one-sided contest, the score was 4-0 after one quarter, 7-2 at the half and 14-2 by the end of three periods. Dave Tickner and Wick Sollers led the Princeton attack with five goals and two assists apiece.

NAZZARO ONE STARTER

Phox The Next for PHS. Either Carl Nazzaro or Keith Phox will start on the mound for the Princeton High School baseball team in its season's opener here Monday against Hamilton. The one who doesn't, will get the nod in Wednesday's game with Lawrenceville School, according to coach Jim O'Neill.

The Hamilton game will start at 1. The Lawrenceville contest, also at PHS, will start at 2:15.

O'Neill indicated earlier that a loss to Hamilton isn't going to make or break the season for the Little Tigers, but he left no doubt that a win over the Group 4 Hornets, one of the better teams in the county last year, would give his squad a tremendous psychological boost.

Although he has three experienced starters to pick from – Al Kandell is the third -- O'Neill has chosen to go with Nazzaro or Phox because "we are a better all-around team when Kandell plays centerfield for us."

In two pre-season games Saturday, PHS was blanked, 10-0, by Sterinert in the morning, but came back to stop Princeton Day, 6-3, in the afternoon.

O'Neill reported that his team was guilty of a few mental errors, but he attributed some of the lapses to first-game jitters – "which is why we have scrimmages."

Gaining Confidence. "The kids are starting to gain a little confidence," he added. "in the past we would have let that Steinert scrimmage bother us; they just shrugged it off and came back to beat PDS."

The Blue and White did not escape unscathed, however. Infielder Jamie Robertson jamed his finger diving into second base and may have to have x-rays taken, while Nazzaro was hit on the arm by a comebacker to the mound, but it was not his pitching arm.

Offsetting some of the mistakes, O'Neill commented that "a lot of good things happened, too."

He cited the performance behind the plate of Bruno Perna, who caught all of one game and half of the other in place of absent Todd Blackledge – "he did a heck of a job" – and the hitting of transfer student Mike Nosal.

TOUGH YEAR AHEAD

Says Hun's Bill McQuade. In his previous five years, Hun School baseball coach Bill McQuade has never finished worse than 12-6.

But never in those years has the former Princeton High School baseball captain and standout college player had so many holes to fill and so many unanswered question marks as he does on the eve of this spring's 22-game schedule which begins Tuesday at Pingry.

"It's going to be a tough year," he said, "but also an interesting year; I'm looking forward to it."

For a team that was 14-5 last year, was undefeated in Penn-Jersey League play but then, in back-to-back games, lost the league playoff to Germantown Friends and the state prep school title game to Lawrenceville, McQuade loses seven starters. Included are his two front-line pitchers Ernie Barbiero and Tom Sumners, who figured in all but two of Hun's 19 decisions last year.

As a measure of the straits he is in, McQuade reports that he may end up starting three freshmen. "We're not fast, but if we have one asset, it is the power hitter that can win ball games. Now if the pitching comes around...."

Those with experience coming back are co-captains, Tim Teel, last year's designated hitter and an outfielder who batted at a .400 plus clip, and Jim Cortina, a right fielder owning a .380 average. Both are seniors.

Also Tom Dillione, first baseman and pitcher with a .220 average and junior Bob Innocenzi, a second baseman and another .400 batter who helped give Hun its reputation as a power-hitting squad. And that, sighs McQuade, is all.

Among the new faces is Dave Dudek, a post-grad student from Notre Dame, described by McQuade as the fastest player on the team and a good hitter. He'll play at first and a little outfield but as a PG student he is ineligible for league games. As a result, he'll play in some 12 games, but as McQuade says, "all the big ones."

Freshmen the Key. The key to the whole season, feels McQuade, rests on the shoulders of three freshman prospects. One is the probable starting shortstop, Anthony BeVilacqua, "an exceptional glove man and a good hitter. He's one of the best looking freshman prospects I've ever seen." said McQuade.

Another is Angelo Barbero, a good defensive catcher, who has to fill the shoes of Jack Porcelli, "which are pretty big shoes to fill," McQuade commented. Barbero is not as strong a hitter as Porcelli but McQuade is very high on his ability to get the job done. "If you don't have a good catcher in high school ball, it is impossible to have a good season," he maintained.

Anthony "Rocky" DaBronzo, the third freshman, has a good arm and is a good hitter who may land on third or who knows where, said McQuade. "In the past, I could pretty much tell how we would fare, but this is the first year I have no idea. It all depends on these young kids. If they mature quickly, we could have a good season.

Two other varsity candidates are junior Joe Kucinski, a good-hitting junior, who has the edge now, says McQuade, for third base, and Tom West, a junior transfer student. At 6-5, West throws hard and McQuade has designs of converting him to a pitcher.

Pitching in Doubt. That leaves the major question mark–pitching. If Hun has any ace at all, it is going to be senior Bob Kwiatoski, who was 2-0 last year. Kwiatoski has a major league arm--he throws that hard, said McQuade–but he lacks control.

One who has good control but less speed is junior Fred Wollman, a "junk" pitcher. These two will probably do the bulk of the work this year, said McQuade.

Others who may be called upon for part-time mound duty are junior Rich Arbitelle, who pitched sparingly last spring, Dillione and DaBronzo. Two utility players are Chris Dollard, a good hitter, and Rick Arenas. Both are juniors.

Despite the rash of question marks, Hun is off to a nice start, agreed McQuade. This month, for the first time, Hun spent five days in Florida, outside Orlando at the site of the old N.Y. Giants training home, along with some 10 college teams.

"The kids loved it; they played ball every day," said McQuade. "They got to know each other and we got together as a team--which is more important than whatever they may have learned in technique."

Plans are underway for a possible prep school tournament next year in Florida "which would be a heckuva thing," said McQuade, if it materializes. The 15 Hun players who went, raised the money themselves through various activities, McQuade reported.

He is being aided this year by a new assistant, Bill Stout, and by jayvee coach Hank Barber.

PHS BEGINS DEFENSE

Of State Tennis Crown. It doesn't happen very often but it did last year to Joe Diefenbach.

In his first season as coach of the Princeton High School tennis team, Diefenbach took the Little Tigers all the way to the top as the Blue and White won the Group 1 & 2 NJSIAA state championship. "You couldn't ask for anything more," said Diefenbach then, adding, "some coaches go all their lives and never win one." PHS ended with a 19-2 record.

Will there be an encore? "I don't think we'll be quite as strong," commented Diefenbach this week, "but it's hard to tell." PHS will begin a 20-game schedule Monday, entertaining Trenton at 3:45, and will be at Ewing Wednesday.

Last spring, the Little Tigers were 12-0 against Mercer County teams. This year will mark the start of the Colonial Valley Conference. Diefenbach sees his strongest competition for CVC honors coming from Hopewell Valley, which did not lose anyone through graduation.

Four to Be Replaced. Diefenbach lost four, including his two top singles players, Dan Aronovic (18-3) and Steve Ebersole (19-2). Also two doubles players, David Bowen and Andy Besser.

Returning are Allen Aronovic, number three singles players last year, who compiled a fine 17-2 mark as a sophomore, and senior Lewis Snijders, who will probably play number three singles this year.

Aronovic is presently battling freshman Scott Clark for the number one position. Ranked number one in the 14-and-under Middle States area last year, Clark has had a lot of tournament competition, Diefenbach reported.

The number one doubles pairing this spring will be senior Michael Loew, a veteran, and sophomore Hugo Walters, who saw limited play last year.

Six others are fighting to land a starting berth on the number two doubles: seniors Seth Sanders, Bernie Noble and Les Scharfstein; juniors Peter Wilson and Chris King and sophomore Abe Witonsky.

One reason why Diefenbach feels PHS may not be as strong this year is that both Clark and Aronovic "are not seniors but they'll be competing against a lot of seniors." He views the season somewhat as a "rebuilding year" but as other opponents have found consistently, PHS is very difficult to beat on the tennis court, rebuilding year or not.

JOINT EFFORT UPSET

In Playoffs. Youngn's rebounded from a first-game loss to hand league champion Joint Effort two consecutive defeats and thereby win the Princeton Recreation Department's Men's League Playoffs.

Silvester Cuyler's shooting and defense led to the Youngn's first victory as he dominated the game, scoring 30 points in the 85-69 decision. Joint Effort was led by Ed McEwen and Tony Montgomery who tallied 22 and 17 points respectively.

In the deciding game, Joint Effort jumped to an early 18-9 lead, behind a good 2-3 zone defense and effective fast break. However, Youngn's fought back with a full court press which turned the tide. Bill Hill hit the last field goal to tie the game at 60 and Cuyler sank the game-winning foul shot.

Tony Montgomery led Joint Effort with 29 points while Hill and Cuyler paced Youngn's with 20 and 23 points. Kevin Marshall held McEwen to eight points, nullifying one of Joint Efforts main scoring threats.

RACES RESUME

For Carnegie Sailing Club. The Carnegie Sailing Club spring racing series will start this Sunday.

From the clubhouse at the north end of Lake Carnegie, fleets of Sunfish and Lasers will race every Sunday afternoon for the next 10 weeks. The first race starts at 1:30 p.m. standard time, 2 p.m. daylight, and there are usually five races for each fleet in an afternoon.

Interested visitors are welcome to watch, take pictures or join the club. The club currently has some 30 members with 10-15 boats, more Lasers than Sunfish. Peter M. Grosz of Pretty Brook Road is commodore; Richard Jesser of 546 Prospect Avenue is vice-commodore; Walter G. Gibson of 645 Princeton-Kingston Road, rear commodore, and Michael Sherman of 55 Battle Road is secretary-treasurer.

OPENER FRIDAY

For PHS Girls Softball. The Princeton High School girls softball team led by second-year coach Fred Carman, will open a 17-game schedule Friday at Montgomery High. Starting time is 3:45.

After the opening game, the girls will break for the holiday and resume April 12 against Hopewell Valley.

TULLY JOINS STAFF

Of Community Tennis Program. The Princeton Community Tennis Office has a qualified staff of teachers to coordinate its spring classes, including Shawn Tully, who returns full time.

A graduate of Princeton University, Tully played varsity tennis for four years for the Tigers. A participant in a State Department-USTA sponsored tennis teaching tour in West Africa last year, he is currently working as a pro at the Hamilton Tennis Club.

Another professional staff member is Art Cramp who has been a pro at the Kailua Racquet Club, Hawaii, and most recently, was associate director at the Lawrenceville Tennis Camp. He is preseotly the pro at the Somerset Indoor Tennis Club.

For information about spring classes, visit the Tennis Office, 71 University Place, or call 924-4343.

600 EXPECTED

For Spring Soccer Program. More than 600 boys and girls from Princeton and nearby communities are expected to be on hand when the Princeton Soccer Club begins its spring program April 9.

The program runs eight consecutive Saturdays through May 28 and includes both league competition within the program for all players and all-star games with other clubs for those with a high level of skill and ability.

The club places a strong emphasis on excellent coaching and has made a considerable effort to secure the best possible coaches for its spring season. A number of varsity players from Princeton University will be involved in the instructional program and most teams will have two coaches with them on a full-time basis.

There is still a need for interested adults to help in the program to insure the closest possible attention for all participants.

For the Saturday league The Princeton Soccer Club teams are named for a business firm which serves as a sponsor. Each team plays every Saturday and a champion emerges at the end of the season. At present plans are for five leagues determined by year of birth and level of ability and experience.

The Club has thus far created eight teams for the Cub League birthdates 1970-

69, 8 for The Youth League (1968-67) eight for The Juniors (1966-65), six for The Intermediates (1964-62) and for The Seniors (1961-59). However, it is quite possible that registration may exceed this number and there will be a need for more sponsors to create an opportunity for all who wish to take part.

Registration is still open for the spring program but closes Monday, April 4. Any applications received after this date will be considered only as space is available.

Those who have not yet received information may pick it up at stores in Princeton serving as sponsors, from their school athletic directors and soccer coaches, or by calling the club at 921-1024 or 924-5613. Anyone interested in coaching, sponsoring a team or helping in any way with the program is welcome to contact The Princeton Soccer Club at these same numbers.

Princeton Team Wins. Princeton High School player John Miller scored three goals in his debut as The Princeton team in The Schaeffer Soccer league posted a 4-1 triumph over The New Jersey Costaricans in Trenton Sunday, March 27.

Carlos Aramburi added the fourth goal and Sandy Howell played brilliantly in the nets for The Tigers whose victory enabled them to remain one game behind The German-American Kickers in the battle for first in The South Schaeffer League. Coach Louis Baldino's squad plays at home next on April 10 after travelling to Flemington Sunday for a match with The Flemington eleven.

LACROSSE FRIDAY

PHS Home Opener Tuesday. "I'm looking forward to a good season," said Princeton High School lacrosse coach Bill Cirullo a week before the start of his fourth year, which begins Friday afternoon in Cinnaminson.

Last year, with a team comprised heavily of underclassmen, the Little Tigers were heading for disaster until they won three of their last four to finish with a 6-7 mark. Cirullo lost only five seniors from that team including two fine defensemen, Nate Harris and Craig Rendall.

Now that year of learning figures to start paying off in Cirullo's mind. "This year and next year we're going to give a lot of people trouble."

The experience will be at attack, midfield, and in the goal. The attack will be led by senior Morgan Mohrman, the leading scorer on the team last spring and an honorable mention all-state performer. He is one of three tri-captains this year together with goalie Robert Willis, second team all-state, and defenseman Craig Strazza. Willis and Strazza are also seniors.

Joining Mohrman on attack will be Jamie Lesher -- this will be the fourth year he has worked with Mohrman -- and Matt Adriance, who also would be a four-year veteran if he hadn't had to sit out last year with an injury. "The boys playing attack know each other very well," said Cirullo.

At midfield will be Chris Cahill, Doug Firstenberg and Bobby Campbell -- all veterans and all juniors. Another midfield line consists of juniors Johnny Morris, Pierre Muri and Brian Cleveland. "It's been a good while since I've had this much experience at midfield," commented Cirullo who added that out of his 59-member squad he can field three or four lines -- all juniors and sophomores.

Cirullo also is confident about his strength in the goal. "Willis is a first class goalie. If he plays to his ability he is going to be tough and he has the desire and the willingness to become that first class goalie. He guides the defense...its just great to have him in there."

Backup to Willis is Tommy Seiler, a sophomore, who proved to be a fine football receiver last fall. "He's very quick, he's quite an athlete," Cirullo commented.

Defense Question Mark. The weak link is defense where Cirullo reports no other decision has been made than Strazza. Among the six or seven that he is looking over are Steve Pallrand, Jeff Russell, Bob Lennon, sophomore Bobby Cooke, and Keith Wadsworth, who took up the sport last year as a junior and is "really beginning to learn the game," said Cirullo.

His potential is unlimited and if Wadsworth jells he will go a long way in shoring up the defense. Two others that Cirullo is counting on are sophomore twins Jimmy and Cal Harris, both fighting for a spot on the varsity.

DEFENSE CANDIDATE: Junior Steve Pallrand is a candidate for defenseman on the PHS lacrosse team which opens its 13-game season on Friday.

Cirullo got his first look at what he can expect this year when his team last week scrimmaged Kingswood-Oxford, a private school near West Hartford, Conn. whose next stop after PHS was a contest with the Washington College jayvees in Baltimore. Cirullo liked what he saw.

"They had a good lacrosse team, no question about it, but as far as the scrimmage goes, we had the best of it. We had a good day." PHS won, 7-4.

Home Opener Tuesday. Cirullo expects a tough first game against Cinnaminson, which it edged last year, 5-4, and an even tougher game in its home opener Tuesday at 3:30 against Pingry. "Pingry," he said, "is loaded for bear."

Previous games between the two schools have been marked by the closeness of the final outcome. Pingry won three years ago in sudden death; two years ago in double overtime, while PHS won for the first time last year with a one-goal advantage.

There is no Colonial Valley Conference in lacrosse as there is other sports. The New Jersey Lacrosse Coaches' Association has two leagues, the Pitt division and the Fitch division. PHS plays in Class A in the Pitt division along with such teams as Peddie, Lawrenceville, Pingry, Summit and Hunterdon Central. "It's a tough division," said Cirullo. There are no breathers for PHS.

Although his teams are generally outmanned, Cirullo revels in the challenge. He loves the sport, he likes to coach and stresses conditioning and discipline.

When the sport was in danger of being abolished this year in an economy move, the players gathered petitions and confronted school officials. That same spirit is displayed on the field, says Cirullo.

"Whenever I run a drill, 99 out of 100 always give it everything they have. So far, it's been a pleasure."

TICKETS AVAILABLE

For Golf Classic. Ed Salkind, president of the Princeton Jaycees, has announced that his chapter will be selling tickets to the Ladies Professional Golf Association Coca-Cola Golf Classic to be held May 16-22 at Forsgate Country Club. The Celebrity Pro-Am, which is scheduled for Wednesday, May 18, attracts personalities from the world of entertainment. Season tickets for the complete week, a $25 value, are available for $14 if purchased before May 16. Daily passes at $4 are available at a $1 discount if purchased before the tournament.
